Senate Wrangle Erupts

Special Committee Study on Arms Splits Over Adlai Plan to Halt Tests

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Political warfare broke out today among members of a special Senate committee set up to study disarmament as an aid to world peace.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), chairman of the group of six Republicans and six Democrats, released a special staff on disarmament and at the same time supported the proposal of Adlai Stevenson that this country take the lead in moves toward halting tests of large nuclear weapons such as H-bombs.

Sen. Bridges (R-NH) protested that he and other members of the disarmament group had not seen the staff study or been consulted about its release. He said the action "instead of fostering bipartisanship in foreign policy, in effect undermines it."

At the same time Bridges backed President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and other Republicans who have taken issue with Stevenson's suggestions for halting H-bomb tests.

"Our preparations and tests in nuclear defense should go on to insure maximum progress in technology and a strong national security," Bridges said.

Humphrey contended it would "not be necessary to rely on the Soviet's word alone," that an agreement on banning H-bomb tests was being observed.

"Nor would such an agreement, to be effective, require an elaborate inspection system," he said, adding:

"Our detecting methods are presently located outside the Soviet Union. Many other nations have means to detect large nuclear explosions wherever they occur."

"Any violation of an agreement would, therefore, be almost instantly known to the world at large."

Eisenhower said in a statement last night:

"The proposals clearly take no account of what would be the result of stopping our tests. Tests of large weapons, by any nation, may be detected when they occur. But any such test follows many months of research and preparation."

"This means that elaborate tests could be prepared by another nation without knowledge. By the time we had such knowledge, our present commanding lead in the field of nuclear weapons could be reduced or even overtaken. Thus our power to guard the peace would be weakened."

Two Students Perish In Light Plane Crash

COULTERVILLE, Ill. (P)—Two teen-age university students were killed late Friday in the crash of their light plane as it was coming in for a landing near here.

The victims were identified by state police as Gerry Adams, 18, the pilot and owner of the plane, and Jack Sullivan, 19, both of Collinsville, Ill., and students at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

Officers said the two-seater plane was approaching a landing strip one mile northeast of Coulterville when it stalled about 250 feet in the air and crashed.

The plane exploded and burned after the crash.

Anti-Discrimination Bill Is Turned Back

ST. LOUIS (P)—An anti-discrimination bill was returned to committee by the Board of Aldermen here Friday, virtually killing the measure.

A 15 to 10 vote followed a spirited debate.

The bill would forbid any city business place serving or selling necessities in public to refuse to wait on any person because of race, color, creed or religion.

Resist That Urge

Sen. Thomas Hennings

Sen. Hennings Will Address Rally Monday

Democrats Invite Everyone to Hear Him in California

Democrats of Moniteau County will hold a rally Monday night in the California High School at which United States Senator Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., Missouri's senior senator, will give the principal address. W. W. Wisdom, of Tipton, candidate for state senator, will be chairman of the meeting.

The rally speaking program starts at 8 o'clock.

The Moniteau County Central Committee is planning on the meeting to be one of the largest held in Central Missouri today in the campaign. It is open to all interested not only in Moniteau County but to those who desire to attend from adjoining counties.

Sen. Hennings will speak generally on the issues of the campaign but will emphasize the problems of the farmers and deliver to them the platform of the Democratic Party as compared to that of the Republicans. He will also review the present administration's view toward the farmer.

Following the California meeting, the senator, who is being accompanied by Mrs. Hennings, and Pat Neilson, of Union, will come to Sedalia to remain overnight. They will stop at the Bothwell Hotel and on Tuesday will visit with Pettis County.

At noon Tuesday, a luncheon is to be held for the senator and Mrs. Hennings at the Pacific Room of the Pacific Cafe which is open to the public. Tickets for the luncheon can be obtained from County Chairman John C. McClockey.

The senator, a candidate for reelection, was first elected to the Senate in 1950 and at that time was the only Democrat in the national election to unseat an incumbent Republican senator.

When the Senate was reorganized in the opening session of 1951, he was immediately recognized by his fellow senators for integrity and leadership. He was unanimously elected secretary of the Senate Democratic Conference, one of the three top-ranking Senate positions. In that capacity he has acted numerous times as the majority leader of the Senate.

He had the distinction of being elected unanimously as a member of the nine-man Democratic Policy Committee, which formulates policy, procedure and strategy of the Senate. He is a member of the Democratic Steering Committee which assigns senators to committees.

By virtue of ability and seniority, he is now in line to be chairman of the powerful Senate Rules Committee in the next Congress.

The senator serves as a high-ranking member of the following committees: Judiciary (which handles 54 per cent of all Senate legislation); Rules and Administration; Post Office and Civil Service; chairman of subcommittee on Constitutional Rights; chairman of the subcommittee on Improvements in Judicial System, International Security subcommittee (charged with investigating Communist activity); Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee, during which he has become an authority and is called upon throughout the United States for conferences and talks; Anti-Trust and Monopoly; and seven others.

He served as official United States delegate to the Interparliamentary Union Meetings in Austria, 1954, and in Finland in 1955.

Although he is completing his first term as a United States senator, Sen. Hennings is well-acquainted with government problems, having served three terms as a member of the House of Representatives and was a high-ranking member of the Foreign Affairs Committee.

Sen. Hennings, in his third term in the House, received from the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, then President of the United States, a letter which he praises highly in which the President paid him tribute for his "good work, always on the side of the national interest."

He is a World War II veteran. Although over the draft age and (Please turn to page 6, column 2)

Stevenson Declares GOP Has 'Industrial Feudalism' in Mind Despite Promises

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 6.—

Adlai E. Stevenson called tonight for the defeat of the Eisenhower administration on the grounds it offers "too little presidential leadership and the danger of 'industrial feudalism.'"

Making a pitch for Massachusetts' 16 electoral votes in a tour of industrial New England where textile industry losses, mergers and small business failures have created problems, the Democratic presidential nominee declared:

"The Republican managers see America as a big, well-oiled corporation controlled by men who, because they run the big corporations, ought to run the country, too."

Just as "the big boss is nice at Christmas," Stevenson said, "so the Republicans put on a big smile around election time."

"Left alone," he continued, "they will lead us into a new age of industrial feudalism, where small enterprise disappears and every one works for the giant corporations."

That was said in an address prepared for a rally in Springfield tonight.

Earlier, before an enthusiastic noonday crowd of about 8,000 at Providence, R. I., Stevenson accused the administration of "political cynicism" and an "unfeeling attitude toward the troubles of the textile industry."

In the speech in Rhode Island, which has four electoral votes, Stevenson predicted Democratic Gov. Dennis J. Roberts' re-election, and observed:

"And I only hope his coat-tails are long enough to accommodate Senator Kefauver and myself on Nov. 6."

In contrast to the situation at Yale University last night where he had to calm a noisy, demonstrative crowd of "I Like Ike" chanters that almost got out of hand, only one "Stick With Ike" sign could be seen in the Providence City Hall Plaza.

Area Optometrists Are Elected to Posts In Professional Group

Dr. David H. Robinson, local optometrist, was appointed president of the West Central Missouri Optometric Society, at a meeting of that organization held Monday night at Bothwell Hotel.

Dr. Robinson is a past secretary of the society, a past president of the Sedalia Lions Club and a past president of the Crippled Children's Eastern Seal Society.

Dr. Hugh DuBois, Marshall, was elected secretary of the society at the meeting Monday night.

St. Charles Man Dies Of Car Crash Injuries

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—William A. Rouse, 46, of St. Charles, Mo. died today in St. Louis County Hospital of head and internal injuries suffered last Monday when his car hit a tractor-trailer on U. S. Highway 66 and Missouri Bottom Road.

Cedar and Hughesville Election on Monday

The township elections for County Extension directors in Cedar and Hughesville townships will be held at 8 p. m. this Monday evening, Oct. 8.

In Cedar township the election will be at the Georgetown School. Albert Runge will be in charge and Mrs. John Silsby will serve as secretary. A woman director is to be elected. The Hughesville election is at the school with Charlie Arnold as chairman and Mrs. Faris Zimmerman as secretary. Here a man director is to be elected.

Two Groups Continue On From Air Base

NATO Officers, US Military, Civic Leaders Head South

Top British, French, and American NATO representatives received a comprehensive picture of Strategic Air Command operations when they visited the 340th Bomb Wing at this Eighth Air Force installation Friday.

The distinguished visitors, including Admiral Sir John A. S. Eccles, Commander-in-Chief, Eastern Atlantic, Vice Admiral F. F. Jourdain, French Navy, Commander, Biscay-Atlantic, and Rear Admiral T. V. Briggs, U. S. Navy, and seven other prominent officers arrived at Whiteman at 11:45 a. m., were guests of Col. A. J. Beck, 340th Bomb Wing Commander for lunch, and later were given a briefing and conducted tour of the base facilities.

The seven other guests in the party were: Air Marshal Sir Bryan L. V. Reynolds, Commander-in-Chief for Air, Eastern Atlantic; Vice Admiral F. W. Cuthbert, Commander, Central Atlantic; Air Vice Marshal G. I. L. Saye, Commander for Air, Central Atlantic; Group Captain D. G. Keddie, Staff, Commander-in-Chief Eastern Atlantic; Captain R. D. Hogle, USN, Staff, Supreme Allied Command, Atlantic; Capt. P. J. Milner-Barry, Royal Navy, Staff, Supreme Allied Command, Atlantic; and Captain A. D. Robin, Royal Navy, Staff, Supreme Allied Command, Atlantic.

Col. Beck and his staff members showed the distinguished visitors through the aircraft maintenance shops, then visited the flight-line area to inspect the 340th Bomb Wing's B-47 jet bomber and the KC-97 refueling tankers.

At 2 p. m. the 340th demonstrated an aerial refueling of a B-47 bomber by a KC-97 tanker with a low-level flyby over the main runway.

The visitors departed Whiteman at 2:15 p. m. for New Orleans and Florida to attend the semi-annual USAF Firepower demonstration at Eglin AFB, scheduled for Sunday.

Twenty-eight prominent civic leaders and military commanders surrounding Eighth Air Force installations in the middle west also departed from Whiteman Air Force Base today for a joint military-civilian orientation and the fire-power demonstration at Eglin AFB.

The visitors included: Abe Martin, mayor of Lincoln, Neb.; Jack Thompson, president, First Trust Co.; Joseph Seacrest, Jr., associate editor, Lincoln State Journal; Jerry Bush, coach, University of Nebraska; Harold Hoppe, Hoppe Lumber Co.; William Murrell, former City Councilman, and Brigadier (Please turn to page 6, column 2)

Door-to-Door Campaign Arranged—Women, Youngsters Will Help Collection Of Money in Muscular Dystrophy Drive

The women and young people of Sedalia have proven their willingness to help in the fight against muscular dystrophy by volunteering to call at homes in the community for funds that may aid in the research on this disease that remains a medical mystery. Only research will give the key to the cause of this chronic, non-contagious progressive disease which weakens and wastes the voluntary muscles, but it takes much money to carry on research.

There will be no porch light drive as was originally planned, but a house-to-house daytime drive, the young people using after-school hours to do their part.

The International Firemen of America, Local 823, of which Leo Huffman is president, will also again participate in the drive. Frank Sloan will serve as chairman for Local 823, and members of the local and their wives will be in complete control of all posters and canisters and will do anything else in the drive necessary.

The town will be organized by precincts and the response for volunteer workers has been wonderful. Although there is only one case in Sedalia, Bobby Wolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wolf, 1709 South Summit, another son in the Wolf family died from the results of the disease several years ago. There are many, many people over the nation afflicted.

Muscular dystrophy itself is not fatal, death is always the result of inter-current maladies. To a dystrophy patient a trifling cold may be a grave disease, as his wasted muscles make him unable to cough or sneeze and there is a great danger of suffocation.

Although the cause of the disease is unknown, research has indicated it is caused by faulty metabolism of the muscles related to the inability to use vitamin E. Adults, as well as children, are afflicted with this disease.

Dr. D. C. Proctor is general chairman of the Muscular Dystrophy Drive and Mrs. Lilly Thomas is chairman of the Pettis County chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

A general meeting has been called for Oct. 9 at 8 p. m. at the Chamber of Commerce office. Anyone interested in knowing more about this disease or in helping is welcome to attend.

Two Soldiers Die, 3 Others Hurt in Wreck

Ft. Wood Men Are Casualties; Mishap Is Near Versailles

An accident involving three automobiles and a bridge on Highway 52, about three miles west of Versailles at 3:15 p. m. Saturday, resulted in the death of two soldiers and injuries to three others, one critical and one serious. The soldiers, all Privates, were reported to have been from Ft. Leonard Wood.

Dead are Pvt. Allen Siegle, 18, reported to have been the driver of the automobile in which all five were riding, and Pvt. David E. Hirsig, 18. They died at the scene of the accident.

Injured were identified as Pvt. William Arneson, 18, who suffered lacerations and bruises; Pvt. John Atkins Jr., 18, who suffered a head and back injury and was reported to be critical; Pvt. Melvin Steinke, 18, whose condition was reported only as being serious as the extent of his injuries were not immediately made known.

The bodies of the two dead soldiers were taken to Versailles, one to the Kidwell Funeral Home and the other to the Scrivner Funeral Home.

Ambulances rushed the three injured youths to the St. Mary's Hospital at Jefferson City.

State Trooper Donald Slevins, Versailles, and Sheriff Corrie Woods, and his deputies of Morgan County, investigated the accident.

Trooper Slevins' report given his headquarters, Troop F, at Jefferson City, indicated Siegle was the driver of the 1951 Ford convertible which was driven west on Highway 52.

According to the report of the State Patrol, Siegle's car sideswiped a 1947 Hudson coach which was being driven east on the highway by Vera Croffer, 60, of Kansas City. The incident occurred just east of a narrow bridge, then swerved and crashed into the bridge abutment. The third car a 1955 Ford convertible (Please turn to page 6, column 3)

Officials Think Reds Actually Are Stalling

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The United States has proposed that Russia join in "standardizing safeguards" against secret diversion of peaceful atoms to military purposes by small nations which get atomic aid from the big powers.

Russia has agreed in a general way that this is a good idea, but State Department officials are convinced that the Soviets are really stalling and using the project as a propaganda issue against the United States.

The proposal, and the Soviet reaction to it were disclosed tonight with publication of an exchange of 16 notes between Washington and Moscow.

U. S. officials said that they believe that in the long run the Soviets will join in some kind of safeguard arrangement for the peaceful use of atomic energy. They said this may eventually contribute to a solution of the issues of inspection and control which have so long prevented any real progress on atomic disarmament.

The notes given out here by the State Department began back in November 1954 when the United States was urging Russia to get on with negotiations for some kind of international organization for peaceful use of atomic energy.

At that time Secretary of State Dulles presented a long note to Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarinbin. It suggested that Russia and the United States negotiate on ways to prevent the "diversion of fissionable material from power-producing atomic installations."

The series continued through Sept. 24, when Soviet Counselor Sergei R. Striganov informed undersecretary Herbert Hoover Jr. that "The Soviet government has no objection to . . . a study of the possibility of standardizing safeguards."

Between these two notes in November 1954 and September 1956 great progress had in fact been made toward setting up an international atomic energy agency and spreading the peaceful uses of atomic power over the world.

U. S. officials say the record shows that Russia has gone along on the formation of an international atomic-for-peace agency and related projects jointly because of prodding by the United States and other Western powers and only after extracting all possible political and propaganda advantages.

The heart of the problem is that while 82 nations, including the United States and Russia, are now meeting in New York to form the projected new agency for atomic power, the most hopeful estimates are that the agency will not start operating before June 1957.

Oil Men Hold Queen Contest Here Thursday

The Oil Progress Queen Contest, sponsored by the Central Missouri Oil Men's Club, will be held Thursday, Oct. 11, at the Fox Theatre, with 14 charming young women of this area competing.

The girls are: Norma Bechtel, Dorothy Bohon, Marjory Cummins, Cara Lee Taylor, Betty Estill, Nancy Pace, Deannie Perkins, Norma Gayle Kroger, Ann Sagar, Barbara Grady, Carol Means, Rosalie Moore, Rosemary Sedlak and Joyce Craig.

The queen will receive a $100 wardrobe of clothes, the clothes to be made from oil products, and will appear at all the civic clubs during the week of Oct. 14-21.

The girl who places second in the contest will receive a $25 savings bond.

Bob Cummings' orchestra will furnish the music and the girls will appear on the stage in formals.

Clyde Swafford, president of the Central Missouri Oil Men's Club, will present the awards.

Peggie Hewitt Homan will assist in the presentation of the contest.

Firm Sponsors Art Workshop For Teachers

By BEVERLY LONG

The Milton Bradley Co. of Springfield, Mass., will sponsor an Art Workshop which will be held at the Smith-Cotton Cafeteria on Oct. 8-10 for the Sedalia public school art teachers. It will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. and from 7 to 8 p.m. each day.

The Bradley firm has been offering these services of expert consultants to present demonstrations and conduct workshops in art techniques all over the United States for a number of years. These consultants are available for lectures, demonstrations, and workshops, for organizations, institutions, school faculties and teachers conferences.

The consultant to the workshop to be held here will be Miss Betty Jo Foster, a native of Texas, who has been on the art consultant staff for the past several years. Her art experience in handling demonstrations and workshops is well-known in a great many school educational departments in the state. Miss Foster's fine art education was received through study in New York, Brooklyn and Dallas. Her study in sculpture, under the instructions of Walter Rotan of New York, has been recognized by a first award in an exhibition at the Studio Club of New York. Instruction in the following media will be given: finger painting, crayon, water color, poster paint, clay modeling, papier mache, block print and paper sculpture.

Fired ASC Manager Denies All Charges

COLUMBIA (P)—C. D. Watkins, former office manager of the Pemiscot County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, Friday denied all charges brought against him at the time of his dismissal.

Watkins had a three-hour hearing before the state ASC committee. Murray C. Colbert, state chairman, said officials in Washington will be asked to help the state committee make a decision in the case.

Fired as office manager last Oct. 15, Watkins was reinstated by the state committee. Then the Pemiscot County committee fired him again Sept. 14. The county committee explained its action in a hearing here a week later.

Says Paper Reforms In Soviet Are Hollow

ST. LOUIS (P)—David F. Maxwell, president of the American Bar Assn., says "the same old system" of political trial and conviction without due process of law exists in Russia despite a series of paper reforms.

Maxwell of Philadelphia, told a meeting of the Missouri Bar last night: "The liberties which the Soviet leaders now appear to be extending to their people may be an illusion. The Presidium still main-

Kiwanis Hears Talk on Auto Registration

The person who buys a motor vehicle and delays in getting it registered causes trouble for himself and others; he has no legal ownership or protection, according to Fred E. McGhee, of the Department of Revenue, Motor Vehicle Registration, Jefferson City, speaking before the Sedalia Kiwanis Club meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon.

The speaker who was introduced by Dan Robinson, program chairman, reviewed numerous phases of the state's motor vehicle regulations with which many drivers and owners are unfamiliar. He mentioned that recognition is provided for joint title by man and wife.

McGhee commented that detailed registration requirements are primarily for the protection of the citizen — owner and dealer — and outlined the vast amount of work required in operation of this state department. Items of business handled run into the millions, often as many as 26,000 a day, a volume which produced $44,354,000 annually the bulk of which goes to the highway department to build and maintain highways.

President Jack Shoemaker urged attendance of members at the Kiwanis district convention in Jefferson City, Oct. 7-9. He also mentioned that members and their wives should attend the dedication of the Kiwanis Hi-Fi equipment at the Sedalia Public Library at 7:30 Wednesday evening, Oct. 17.

Invocation was by the Rev. Arthur Schmidt. Singing was led by Russell Maag with Miss Lillian Fox as accompanist.

Lloyd Taylor was a club guest.

Program chairman Robinson announced that next Thursday he would give an illustrated report on a 6,000 mile hunting and fishing trip into the Canadian Pacific Northwest last month with Dr. John Lamy, John Martin and William F. Brown.

Autherine Foster Has Not Given Up Efforts To Enter Alabama U.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (P)—Autherine Lucy Foster apparently has not given up efforts to attend the University of Alabama. She was expelled from the all-white school last February.

The latest in a long series of legal actions came Friday. The newest maneuver revolves around the former Negro coed's expulsion.

Atty. Arthur Shores asked Federal Judge H. Hobart Grooms to find university officials in contempt of court for refusing to readmit the former Birmingham secretary.

At a hearing Aug. 29, Grooms had ruled that a federal court could not interfere with the university's disciplinary action against the Negro woman. She was expelled for unproven charges that school officials conspired in rioting against her.

Shores' action asks the court to revoke the expulsion order "and any other order designed to bar the plaintiff" from the University at Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Atty. Andrew J. Thomas accepted the court order for the university. He has 30 days to reply.

Maxwell recently returned from a visit to Russia.

Journalism Courses Gain New Importance in Schools

NEW YORK (P)—The idea of educating young men and women for careers in journalism has come a long way since Robert E. Lee set up a school for "editors and printers" back in 1869.

The famous Confederate general is credited with establishing one of the first schools for future newspapermen when he was president of Washington College—now Washington and Lee.

At present, there are some 44 colleges and universities offering complete journalism programs which are accredited by the American Council on Education for Journalism. And hundreds of schools above the high school level have courses to familiarize students in some degree with newspaper work.

The study programs—formerly designed to instruct in the more technical aspects of newspaper printing and production — have changed in recent years to offer prospective newspapermen a broad background in general studies in the art and humanities.

As Dean Edward W. Barrett, head of Columbia University's Graduate School of Journalism puts it, "journalism education is now directed to give the student a blend of the broadest possible background plus professional training so that he may deal with modern, complex news situations."

"We are just recognizing the complexity of modern life which requires that the journalist be a thoroughly educated and trained man," he says.

"The emphasis here is placed on general education, followed by intensive journalism courses which seek to help the student employ all of the information he has received from his liberal arts background," Barrett adds.

The same general pattern is followed in most undergraduate schools, with the student receiving as much or more work in general studies as in those courses specifically related to journalism—reporting, copy-reading, law of the press, photography, typography and newspaper history.

Founded by Joseph Pulitzer, the former editor of the old New York World and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, the journalism school at Columbia takes its students after they have completed their undergraduate work pointing up the need for a foundation in general education.

"The greater number of our students come with degrees in political science, history, sociology and English," Dean Barrett says. "In addition, most of the students have completed their military service and have had at least a year of professional experience.

"Journalism schools are becoming more and more important to newspaper editors," Dean Barrett asserts.

"These schools are taking over the function of training newly employed men once provided by the newspaper office itself. Recognizing this, the newspapers are playing a major role in journalism instruction. Columbia's faculty, for example, includes some two dozen working newspaper men, most giving a day each week to teaching," he says. Active journalists also work with students at a great number of other schools.

"Not only do the newspapers benefit from the better backgrounded graduates, but the graduates stand to profit by their training before taking newspaper jobs," Dean Barrett says.

"Journalism students get practical experience with the added advantage of extensive critiques of their work over a period of a year or more, depending on how each school has set up its journalism program. This is an advantage most newspapers do not provide," he says.

Journalism students not only get experience in specific newspaper operations as reporting and desk work, he says, but they also get the overall picture of a newspaper and its functions in a complex society.

"Most journalism educators believe that first rate training in journalism cuts from two to five years off the graduate's climb up the newspaper ladder," Dean Barrett says.

Editors seem to back up this view, giving most journalism graduates credit for a year or more of practical newspaper experience when the students apply for jobs.

Nine Service Station Men Recognized

Recognition for their long service with the Standard Oil Co., was given to nine Sedalia area dealers at the fall dealer meeting held in Kansas City. They received special recognition awards in tribute for their years as dealers of its product.

U. L. Howerton, Howerton Service Station, 16th and Grand, for 32 years service; Clyde A. Swafford, Swafford's Service Station, Fourth and Osage for 18 years service; and N. U. Renshaw, State Fair Floral Service Station, 16th and Limit, for 25 years of service.

Only three other dealers out of 400 in the Kansas City division had more service than Howerton, the highest being 46 years.

The other six dealers of the area who received plaques were R. E. Butcher, Windsor, for 46 years; Henry Neumeier, Smithton, 25 years; E. R. Hayworth, LaMonte, 18 years; Mrs. A. B. Byrum, Fristoe, and V. D. Weymouth, of the W-K Garage, Cole Camp, had more than 15 years service.

An engraved scroll plaque mounted on polished wood with the names of each dealer and the number of years that he has been an independent dealer were presented by W. E. Kipper, manager of the Kansas City division, at the meeting.

O. L. Scott, who for many years has been the Standard Oil Co. district representative here in the Sedalia area accompanied the dealers to the meeting.

The plaque presented to the men is one of more than 2,500 that Standard is awarding for the first time this year to dealers of its products who have operated their own service stations for 15 years or more in the Midwest.

In following years, each dealer who reaches the 15-year service mark will be awarded an embossed

SS Disability Payments Will Be Changed

By SCOTT WEBBER
District Manager Sedalia
Social Security Office

If you are disabled before you reach age 50, no cash benefit can be paid under the Social Security Act, but you may have your social security earnings record "frozen" to protect your own and your family's rights to future benefit payments because of old age, disability, or death.

You may receive child's insurance benefits after you reach age 18 if you have been disabled before you reached 18, you are unmarried, and you are dependent on a parent, step-parent, or adopting parent who is entitled to old-age insurance benefits under social security or you were dependent on a parent who died after 1939 and was insured for survivors benefits at the time of his or her death.

It is not necessary that you yourself have any record of work under the social security law to get payments as a disabled child.

Two examples will help to show how this part of the law works:

Jim Hawkins was disabled at the age of 15 when his father was 50 and has been disabled ever since. His father is now 65 and is receiving old-age insurance payments under the social security law. Jim may now get child's disability insurance benefits even though he is now 30 years of age.

Joe Burton became severely disabled four years ago when he was almost 14. His mother was working but she died this year, and Joe was eligible for child's insurance benefits based on her social security account. Under the old law his payments would have stopped in the month before he reached 18. Even though Joe will reach 18 this year, his social security payments will now continue as long as he is disabled.

If you believe that you may be eligible for social security benefits as a disabled child, you or someone in your family should get in touch with your social security office after September, 1956.

If you are now receiving child's insurance benefits under the social security law and you are disabled, you or the person who receives the payments in your behalf should get in touch with the social security office a few months before you reach 18.

The first payments possible under this part of the law will be for the month of January, 1957. You will not lose any of the payments due in 1957 if your application is made before the end of January, 1958.

Charles Davis Takes Trip to Illinois

Charles F. Davis, 1501 West 20th, sales representative of the Moorman Manufacturing Co., spent Monday and Tuesday at the company's headquarters at Quincy, Ill.

He and more than 100 other newer salesmen from 15 states attended the "get-acquainted" and training session.

He learned about the latest developments in livestock and poultry feeding. He went on tours of the research laboratories, research farm and factory.

One of the highlights of the factory tour was seeing a new, giant press which manufactures new protein-mineral-vitamin blocks for self-feeding cattle and sheep.

At the 515-acre farm, he saw the company's unique herd of twin dairy heifers and cows, the new dairy research unit in operation, new poultry brooder houses and recently enlarged beef cattle feeding lots. He also saw about 700 hogs in various feeding tests.

Sedalians Elected To State Chamber

J. M. Cunningham has been elected to the board of directors of the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce for a two-year period beginning Oct. 25, 1956, and will represent District 10, which is composed of about seven counties.

Cunningham is replacing William A. Schien, who has been the director of District 10 previously. He was nominated by Floyd Priddy, president of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, and endorsed by three other members of the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce. Cunningham will officially take up his duties at the board of directors meeting which will be held at the Muehlebach Hotel in Kansas City on Oct. 25, the day before the annual meeting of the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce on Oct. 26.

IMPROVED METHODS of printing have helped to alter the appearance of the American newspaper. A printer in 15th century dress operates a replica of one of the early presses similar to those used in colonial times. The old presses could print only a few hundred single sheets a day. In contrast, the modern bank of printing devices is capable of turning out some 2,900 80-page newspapers a minute.

Newspaper Appearance Makes Great Change Since Printing in Colonial Days

AP Newsfeatures

The appearance of the front page of your newspaper seems to have changed more than the subject matter since the first newspaper was published in the United States.

The news was mostly political when Benjamin Harrison's "Public Occurrences—Both Foreign and Domestic" came off his hand-operated press in Boston on Sept. 25, 1689. Historians generally agree that this long-titled paper was the first to be published in this country. It was soon suppressed by the British colonial government.

But despite the fact that politics played an important part in the news, as it does now, most modern readers would scarcely recognize Harrison's sheet as the predecessor of their present-day newspaper.

There were no headlines, no pictures and only four pages in the entire paper. One of these was left blank—for last-minute additions by the editor or for the reader to add a line or two before passing the paper on to the next reader.

The hand-operated press on which the hand-set type was printed could only turn out a few hundred copies a day. And the size of the pages was 4 1/2 inches by 8 inches. There were just two columns of printed matter on each page.

Few papers managed to publish steadily over a number of months or even weeks, and the cost of an individual copy was high.

Newspapers kept pretty much the same appearance until the 1830's. Then, technical advances—improved presses and cheaper paper—provided a great boon for newspaper editors. The newspaper price went down as more could be produced at less cost, and there was an era of the "penny press."

To compete with the small penny pages, other publishers put out "blanket sheets"—the largest of which measured some three by five feet, in an attempt to show their readers that they were giving more for the money.

There were still no illustrations, except an occasional woodcut engraving.

Presses could produce a meager 2,000 pages an hour.

The Civil War period marked another change in appearance of the newspaper. Illustrations were no longer limited in their width to one column, although they were still wood engravings. Headlines began to appear, some which took up half of the page depth in a column. Rotary presses and a method of taking an impression—a stereotype—of the hand-set pages to use in the press allowed some 8,000 copies to be printed each hour.

The tabloid size newspaper became popular in the 1920's. By this time, type was no longer set by hand, and a method had been perfected to allow newspapers to reproduce photographs.

The tabloids, most measuring about 11 by 15 inches, employed larger headlines and more pictures than had been seen before. Most standard size newspapers adopted the larger headlines and the more liberal use of pictures to meet the competition.

So regardless of the same interest in political matters, appearance of the page has been altered drastically—thanks largely to technical improvements—since the first newspaper came off the press in the U. S.

Modern presses now can print some 250,000 copies an hour, or 2,900 80-page newspapers a minute. Color printing is becoming more and more popular as faster, technically better, color printing methods are being developed at cheaper costs.

Missouri University Dedicates 'Brain'

COLUMBIA, Mo.—The University of Missouri today dedicated a $200,000 "electronic brain" that can be hired by business firms to solve puzzling problems.

The "brain" will enable the university's College of Engineering to expand its curriculum, using the machine in teaching for a minimum of nine weeks each year.

The rest of the time industrial concerns can rent the machine. Eleven firms financed the installation.

High School Faculty Member—

Guidance Counsellor Speaks To Business Women's Meeting

J. O. Miller, guidance counsellor for Smith-Cotton High School, was the speaker at the regular dinner meeting of the American Business Women's Association held on Oct. 2, in the Magnolia Room at the Hotel Bothwell.

Guidance, Miller said, is needed anywhere there is learning, whether it be in the woodshed with a paddle or in the schoolroom with a teacher. A guidance worker is not a magician and depends on the entire school faculty for help in bettering the student who volunteers to talk to the guidance counsellor.

There are three types of guidance, the speaker said, vocational, personal and educational. Guidance, he explained, is a means of making each individual see himself better and he said he was very proud to be a part of the volunteer service that is offered to the students of Smith-Cotton.

Miller, who was introduced by Mrs. Mary Maddox, answered questions that were asked him by the group.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Miss Margaret Bohon.

The Sedalia Chapter, Miss Bohon said, had received notice that it had qualified as a banner chapter by meeting all requirements and would be recognized at the national convention which will be held Oct. 20 and 21 in Denver, Colo.

Mrs. Roxie Weikal, program chairman, announced that next month's speaker would be Mrs. Rudolph Swope, supervisor of the Crippled Children's Center.

As the vocational part of the program everyone introduced themselves and told where they worked for the benefit of the new members, Mrs. Maxine Russell and Mrs. Loyce Carney.

Mrs. Mary Seigel, a guest, was introduced.

The group made plans for rummage sale and a window sale to be held the last part of October and the first part of November. Points for the attendance co-test were taken with Mrs. Vivian Van Natta's group leading.

The male quartette from Smith-Cotton High School, composed of Bob Kreeger, Harry Satterwhite, Don Edde and Clifford Robinson, under the direction of Mrs. Carl Schrader, sang several numbers.

Mrs. Jerome Wolf, membership chairman, and Miss Bohon installed the two new members in a beautiful candle lighting ceremony.

The tables were attractively decorated in a harvest theme with a green china horn of plenty spilling out large bunches of artificial grapes at the speaker's table and large green candles on either side. The side tables had small china vegetables filled with bittersweet. Invocation was made by Mrs. Van Natta and the benediction was given by Mrs. Opal Self.

HOW CAN YOU BREAK THE LAXATIVE DRUG HABIT?

Try All-Bran and Milk
nature's great food combination

for irregularity due to insufficient bulk

Delicious, appetizing—solid nutritional benefits

If you have tried one laxative after another with indifferent success, you have a right to be skeptical about trying another.

But Kellogg's All-Bran is not a laxative drug. All-Bran is a good, wholesome food that, eaten daily, corrects a common cause of irregularity: lack of bulk in the things we eat.

And unlike laxative drugs (which seldom contain bulk because they are intended only for temporary relief), All-Bran provides all the natural food bulk you need daily for regularity.

Doesn't it make sense that perhaps the reason your present laxative isn't helping you is because it cannot get at the cause of your irregularity? Well then, try nature's great food combination—All-Bran and milk. Eat a bowl for breakfast or before bed at night. Thousands do, with amazingly effective results.

The Flavor Best Liked by Millions. All-Bran, of course, is much more than a natural laxative. It is an appetizing cereal with a delicious nutlike flavor. So good that many people prefer it on taste alone to any other cereal.

You will be interested to know that Kellogg's All-Bran is also highly nutritious. Indeed, a serving of All-Bran with milk supplies you with several important food essentials. These include vitamins, minerals and high-quality protein.

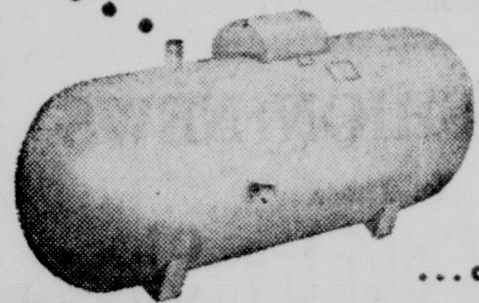

W. K. Kellogg originated All-Bran over 40 years ago. He improved the flavor and eating qualities of the whole wheat bran without taking away any of its effectiveness. All-Bran works because it restores the natural food bulk (gentle roughage) so often lacking in modern-day diets.

If you are ready to give Kellogg's All-Bran a fair try, do this: Eat a half cup of All-Bran and milk (morning or evening) for 10 days. See if it doesn't help you—as it has already helped millions of others—to enjoy comfortable, regular elimination.

If you are not satisfied with All-Bran in every way, simply return the empty carton and get double your money back. That's a promise from Kellogg's of Battle Creek, Michigan.

Young Women Purchase Furniture That Will Fit Into Own Home After Marriage

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Make way for youth in the home furnishings market. The old idea that a girl waited until after she is married to worry about her household effects is changing.

Earlier marriages, good wages from summer and part-time jobs and up-to-date high school home economics courses as well as various news media have all contributed, I think, to the upsurge of interest among homemakers of tomorrow in furnishings they plan to buy today.

I wish the critics who cluck about wild young women could have been present at discussions I had recently with girls in their late teens who were thoughtfully planning for the future.

They asked intelligent questions about trends in furniture styles and construction features.

They discussed their own preferences and budgeted purchases.

And their interest is directed primarily to bedroom furnishings which can be used at home now and later in homes of their own.

Those who look ahead to marriage within a year or two are interested in colorful, practical and long-wearing spreads and curtains that aren't too fussily feminine or too severe.

Some of the new plaids, in gay combinations of red and pink, yellow and gold or blue and green combine these features.

Inexpensive and generous in size, the spread can be matched to another spread hemmed into floor-length draperies. Or it can be trimmed down to make pinch-pleated curtains for the narrow strip windows seen in so many modern houses.

All of the girls say they want a "good" desk. By this they mean a style which will look all right in any room and with other types of furniture; solid construction with good storage space and the promise of years of service.

New, medium-sized desks of fine woods such as mahogany, walnut, cherry, maple or pine, finished in natural tones, are proud additions to any room.

DELTA, Colo. (AP)—Delta County Republicans have taken over the worn shoe symbol associated with Adlai Stevenson in the 1952 presidential campaign.

Posted in the window of the Delta County Republican headquarters is a sticker showing a shoe sole with a hole in it. Above the sticker is printed: "Don't let this happen to you." Below the shoe: "Vote for Ike."

About Town

Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. DeWolf and two small daughters of East Lansing, Mich., returned home by plane Wednesday after a week's visit with Mr. DeWolf's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. DeWolf, 1115 West Broadway.

Mr. DeWolf, while here, spent three days in Columbia where he attended a 50th anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Titus and Mrs. Lawrence Guenther, Midland, Mich., visited this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Guenther, 1608 East Tenth. They left Thursday morning to visit friends and relatives in Kansas City and Muncie, Kan.

The designs are contemporary in general, but graceful proportions, handsome hardware and attention to details such as leather or plastic tops enable them to blend with other periods.

"Desk chairs" carry no such label. A comfortable, straight-backed chair with upholstered seat will serve at desk or dining table or as occasional chair with equal style.

Although the bedroom suite, with bed, dresser and chest, is still in top favor, there is considerable interest in buying by the piece, so to speak, in order to make for flexible arrangements in the future.

Highly polished brass headboards, for example, shine in a wide range of prices and stand alone on their decorative contribution to a bedroom.

These pair with modern or traditional chests of drawers which, in turn, are proportioned for use throughout a house.

Most of the girls, however, were inclined to put off the purchase of such a major item as a chest. They would prefer to use the one provided by parents and invest in accessories.

Summer savings were earmarked for record players, a pretty lamp, a typewriter, linens for a hope chest or the down payment on the desk.

OBITUARIES

Charles Thomas Robison

Charles Thomas Robison, 84, died Saturday evening at the home of his daughter Mrs. Christine Bolan, in Wichita, Kan.

He was born Sept. 16, 1872, in Sedalia, and had lived here until 1942, having been employed with the M-K-T Railway and engaged in farming. In 1942 he moved to Wichita to make his home with his daughter.

Mr. Robison was preceded in death by his wife, Christina, on March 8, 1936. Mrs. Robison was the daughter of the late Peter and Christina Landmann Kuhn.

Mr. Robison was a member of the First Christian Church here. Besides his daughter, he is survived by two granddaughters, Linda and Connie Bolan.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Gillespie Funeral Chapel, with the Rev. Elmer L. Hobbs officiating.

Burial will be in the McKee Chapel Cemetery.

The body will be brought to the Gillespie Funeral Home.

George Williams Penrod Jr.
George Williams Penrod Jr., 47, formerly of Knob Noster, died unexpectedly at his home in Wells, Mo., Sept. 20. Funeral services were held there Friday afternoon with burial there also.

He was one of eight children, and the only son of the late George Williams and Ella Penrod, born June 6, 1909, in Weir, Kan. He lived in the Knob Noster vicinity from 1918-1930. He married Miss Helen Weinfrey of Columbia.

He is survived by his wife, and sons, Jimmy, Billy, Larry and Donald, and one daughter, Ella Jane of the home; seven sisters, Mrs. Lyle Gamble, Weir, Kan.; Mrs. Floyd Smith and Mrs. John Barnes, Columbia; Mrs. Edgar Todd, Brown station near Columbia; Mrs. Lawrence Custer, Booneville; Mrs. Hazel Hunsinger, Warrensburg and Mrs. Wade Zink, Knob Noster.

Mrs. Loren Griffith
Funeral services for Mrs. Loren Griffith, 40, who died at her home, 609 East 16th, Thursday morning, were held at the Ewing Funeral Home at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Rev. Charles Halbrook officiated, assisted by the Rev. Earl L. Oman.

Clyde Waters sang, "Going Down the Valley," "Good-Night and Good-Morning" and "Jesus Is Calling," accompanied by Mrs. Clyde Waters at the organ.

Pallbearers were Ralph Frisbie, Lloyd Frisbie, Henry Frisbie, J. R. Cramer, Harry McFarich and Manuel McFarich.

Burial was in the Crown Hill Cemetery.

Earl Harry Beaton

Robinson, commander, 90th Strategic Reconnaissance Wing, Forbes AFB, all of Topeka, Kan.; Carl Yates, owner, radio station KSIS, and John L. Faber, executive manager, Chamber of Commerce, of Sedalia; E. L. Sutherland, president, Bank of Windsor; and B. E. Carr, Knob Noster Food Locker, Knob Noster.

Col. A. J. Beck, 340th Bomb Wing commander, was dinner host last night to the group which included other prominent local civic leaders and Col. Beck's staff officers. The other local civilians attending the dinner were: George H. Scruton and Claude Boul. of Sedalia; A. C. Bass and Edwin Wood, of Warrensburg, and James Kirkpatrick, of Windsor.

The purpose of the annual fire-power demonstration is to acquaint military commanders and civilians with the latest Air Force weapons and tactics by demonstration of the weapons in action at the Eglin AFB Air Proving Grounds.

Col. Charles V. Neil, 340th Bomb Wing deputy commander, and Capt. John N. Herbst, information officer, accompanied the guests of the Eighth Air Force to Eglin and will return Sunday night after the fire-power demonstration.

Sgt. Lawrence Miller
Instructs CAP Members

Sgt. Lawrence Miller, WAFB, began an intensive study course in instructor training Thursday night at the regular meeting of the Sedalia Squadron, CAP. The course is to last two months, with four hours total instruction time, to prepare the senior officers to instruct various subjects.

Sgt. Miller has attended NCO instructor school, and presented a course in effective speaking last fall to squadron members. Senior training meetings will be the first and third Thursday of every month instead of weekly.

During the period before the study time, a report on associate memberships was given. Associate memberships are being sold for the building fund.

The annual SARCAP, a simulated search and air rescue mission for CAP members, will be held Oct. 13 and 14 at Cape Girardeau, to cover the boot heel territory. CAP personnel will participate in the search in CAP planes, and in private cars equipped with radios, as well as the handling of ground details.

Cadets will continue to meet weekly for a planned course being instructed by various senior members.

The senior members will meet Oct. 18 for their next hour of instruction.

Readers Don't Show
MEXICO CITY (AP) — The City Library Department complains that while it has gone about greatly increasing facilities, the number of readers has gained only a trickle.

The number of libraries increased from 52 to 133 in the decade ending in 1955, while only 7,000 more readers used them, according to the department's records.

The first glass milk bottle was made in 1835.

Will Observe
Ike's Birthday
With a Party

In honor of the President's birthday, a group of local citizens has made arrangements to hold a huge birthday celebration with dancing, singing, refreshments and a great cake, pieces of which will be distributed to all who attend—as long as it lasts.

The party is to be held at the Smith-Cotton High School cafeteria, Friday night, Oct. 12, from 7:30 p.m. and lasting as long as the youngsters and oldsters have energy enough to dance. An orchestra will provide the music and many square dance groups have indicated they will compete for the gifts that are being gathered together. There will also be prizes or gifts for the best waltz, fox-trot, rumba and jitterbug—and rock-and-roll dances, if there are any rock-and-roll dancers found in the vicinity.

Many other surprises are expected and gifts will be presented to the oldest, youngest and largest family of Republicans who attend the party.

Chairmen for this affair, all of whom are donating their services, are Mrs. Herbert Seifert, social chairman, Mrs. A. R. Beach, music, and Mrs. J. F. Schumacher, general chairman. Local chairman of the Citizens for Eisenhower Committee is Mrs. Fred Rose.

In addition to these activities, a very able "minute" speaker will come here from St. Louis. This man, Maurice Mendle, has been chosen to represent the state as chairman of the Citizens for Eisenhower Committee.

He is an experienced speaker and will bring to Sedalia the latest news of the developments in the political race now taking shape on the national scene.

The entire evening of next Friday will be devoted to honoring not only President Eisenhower but also in honoring Pettis Countians whose birthdays fall on the same date. Those who are able to verify this fact are requested to call Mrs. Fred Rose at 6750 so that arrangements may be made to include them in the program. To date quite a group of persons have asked to be included and it is expected that by Friday night there will be many more.

Information about the affair may be obtained from Mrs. Fred Rose. During the next few days invitations will be extended to all of the local and county officials to attend and honor the President.

tible driven by Pvt. Walter Sunday, 17, also of Ft. Leonard Wood, which was sideswiped by the car as it bounded off the abutment.

Occupants of the other two cars escaped injury.

The single car was demolished and several hundred dollars damage resulted to the bridge according to Sheriff Wood. The damage to the Hudson car was estimated at $300 and damage to the 1955 Ford was estimated at more than $150.

Sheriff Wood, in describing the accident, remarked, "the bridge could not have been damaged any more than it had been blown up with dynamite along the abutment and rail."

Coroner Gene N. Bartram was unable to go to the scene at the time and Sheriff Wood acted for him in ordering the bodies removed to Versailles.

Moose Lodge to Hold Teen-Agers Night

Starting Wednesday night, Oct. 10, the Moose Lodge will be host to members, teenagers and their guests, with Tommy Boehm and his orchestra furnishing the music. This is a carry-over of a similar project that was sponsored last winter and proved very successful.

In place of Youth Honor Day that is usually sponsored by the Moose on Halloween, these teenagers will have a masquerade party the night of Oct. 31, with various prizes to be awarded.

The annual Missouri Moose convention will be held at Hannibal Nov. 2, 3, and 4. The Sedalia Lodge will have eight delegates at this convention.

The Women of the Moose are holding a rummage sale at Third and Osage Saturday morning, Oct. 6. Proceeds from this sale are to go for Christmas for the children at Mooseheart and the Mooseheart Library.

Kresge Employees Get 5-Year Service Pins

Harry Nauge, manager of Kresge's, presented five-year pins for service with the company to three of his employees Saturday morning at the Breakfast at the store. The three women to receive pins were Mrs. Olga Wessel, Mrs. Sylvia Mattox and Mrs. Hazel Chaney.

It is the custom of the Kresge Co. to recognize employees the first week in October and 2,300 service pins were given throughout the companies stores.

Estes Ends Tour Through Vital States

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 6.—An unruffled Estes Kefauver tonight finished a week's 8,000-mile tour through territory vital to Democratic hopes this fall and declared, "I see the pattern of victory forming for our Democratic cause."

The Democratic vice-presidential candidate told newsmen he was highly optimistic Adlai E. Stevenson and he would carry four of the states he has visited since Monday—Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma. He said they had a good fighting chance in the two others where he has appeared—California and Colorado.

The four southwestern states which he claimed are considered privately by Democratic strategists to be vital to any victory combination they can hope to put together nationally this time.

Kefauver's transcontinental travelogue for the week brought to almost 20,000 miles the distance he has covered since he started campaigning on his own in mid-September. He has been on the voters' trail for 23 days and visited 21 states.

The final day of his latest tour took him through four Oklahoma cities—Alva, Enid, Ponca City and Muskogee. Part of the time he was in swirling dust which gave stinging point to the continuous emphasis he puts on drought relief in his speeches.

Local Democratic leaders in all the southwestern states have made it quite clear they are backing heavily on the long drought for farm votes.

On his Sooner State swing the Tennessee bore down heavily on the Democratic record in fostering water conservation projects and dam construction.

Tipton Couple Sells Store to Two Brothers

Mr. and Mrs. Toby Lademann sold their business building and furniture stock in Tipton to John and William Caine, brothers of Versailles.

The new owners took charge on Wednesday.

The brothers owned the Versailles Furniture Co. for the past 21 years, and the Eldon Furniture Co. for eight years.

The Tipton store, to be known as the Caine Furniture Co., will be managed by Bill Rabe.

Banks Prosper In Current Good Times

NEW YORK (AP)—Good times are rewarding most of the nation's bankers liberally. Reports from around the country today show the giant financial institutions turning in earnings reports for the summer months anywhere from 10 to 35 per cent above those for 1955's third quarter.

They have profited both by the cause and effect of tight money. The cause—the swelling demand for loans—has put most banks in the position of lending out every dollar they can lay their hands on. The effect—higher interest charges—has sweetened the returns on the loans they make.

Most of the reporting banks, however, show little if any increase in total deposits. Many report declines. And most of them report losses on the sales of securities. In both cases tight money again gets the blame.

Tight money and higher interest rates have meant that depositors—as well as the banks—can find profitable investments and tend to keep their money at work rather than leaving it in the bank.

In their search for money to lend at higher interest rates to meet a growing demand of borrowers, the banks have sold their fixed-interest securities at a loss. This is because as money tightened and yields went up on other investments, the price of the fixed-interest bonds and government securities fell.

The banks took a loss in selling them. But they were able to take a tax deduction on the loss and to use the cash they got to lend to businessmen at higher interest rates. An exception was J. P. Morgan & Co., which reports profits on its security investments, compared with a loss last summer.

Banks' prime rate — that charged their biggest and highest credit rating borrowers—is now 4 per cent, compared with 3½ per cent a year ago. Other business loans are scaled upwards from the prime rate.

How loans to business have been soaring is shown in the report of New York banks which now have nearly 11 billion dollars out, a gain of 2½ billion over this time last year.

Banks have been going in heavily recently for consumer loans, also. And consumer easy payment debt has now climbed to a record 29½ billion dollars, with the banks holding their share.

When you're skillet-cooking liver and onions, cook the onions first in butter until they're soft and golden. Then draw the onions to one side of the pan and fry the sliced liver, adding more butter if necessary.

The Life You Save May Be Your Child's

There was never a more propitious time to observe Fire Prevention Week than the present which by prolonged season of drought has made everything so tinder dry that it's almost ready to be set on fire by static electricity.

These special weeks of observance, such as the one on fire prevention which starts today, are meant to create mass interest by means of publicity in a matter which affects the life and property of every individual.

Parents should begin early to translate in elementary terms the facts of life about the hazards of fire which are revealed in statistics compiled by the National Fire Protection Association. There are more than 750,000 building fires in the United States each year. Here are some of the 1955 fire estimates:

Smoking and matches, 122,000; defective or overheated heating and cooking equipment, 100,500; electrical, 99,900; rubbish, ignition unknown, 59,400; lightning, 44,800; flammable liquids, 45,500; chimneys, flues, 37,500; children and matches, 29,900; open lights, flames, sparks, 22,200.

One can never be too careful. For instance, don't stand on top of manholes while lighting cigarettes. A man in Tulsa did and was blown 10 feet in the air. Apparently an accumulation of gas around the manhole was set off when he lighted his bag.

Ever since many of us were knee high to a grasshopper we have had a knowledge of fire drills in school houses. Some of our Sedalia churches and Sunday schools are getting big enough for the adults to give thought to occasional fire drills and instructions in these buildings. It might be well to assume that ordinary stairways or doorways in any of these buildings might not be usable because of fire or smoke. Are adults and children familiar with all exits if they must leave the building by some other route? Or is there another adequate route? You'd be surprised to discover there aren't any.

Something else to consider this Fire Prevention Week is that a majority of the "big" fires were small starting fires that grew out of control because there was delay in turning in an alarm. Surprisingly enough in such times of emergency many adults are over-sensitive about turning in an alarm to the fire department. They are victims of a guilt complex or suffering from superlative ego regarding their own ability to put out the fire without help. They should grow up.

How many home owners have taken time off for a little silent meditation planning escape routes from all parts of the house they regularly use, especially bedrooms, in case of a fire? Windows, porch roofs, ladders, back stairs and outside fire escapes are some of the escape means that everyone must be ready to use when normal exits are blocked.

Arrange for practical ways to rescue small children, aged and sick persons.

Neglect of the elementary rules of fire prevention and escape may invite conflagration and destruction of life on your own premises similar to ones which have occurred in the next block or across town from which by distance you felt safe.

Remember the victim of a fire may be your own child because you thought it was safe to smoke in bed.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Knew Ike Would Be Goaded Into Fight

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Republican campaign strategy is working out beautifully and exactly as the astute Len Hall planned it.

Hall, son of Teddy Roosevelt's coachman at Oyster Bay, got his start in the variegated school of Long Island politics which includes a well-rounded course in human relations.

Hall figured that when the Democrats started pouring the heat on Eisenhower, Ike would react like every other human being and pour it back. There was official talk that the President would make only a few TV speeches from the White House. But Len Hall knew better.

He didn't make too many plans in advance, kept his strategy completely fluid. For he knew: 1. That Eisenhower wouldn't give him the green light to campaign until the campaign got hot; 2. That he would know later where his weak spots would be and could arrange Ike's speaking itinerary then.

It's working out exactly that way.

Today Ike needs no urging. When Stevenson applies the acetylene torch of his acid language to the Presidential prestige, Ike is the one who is rarin' to go to defend it. The nation may not know it, but White House intimates do know that his temper is close to the surface. He has a low boiling point. Adlai has touched off that boiling point and Len Hall is delighted.

Doctors Gave OK

There is just one great risk Len Hall is taking. Presidential exhaustion. However, Hall's strategy has worked so well that he's prepared to risk it.

Besides Hall is careful to play his cards so close to his chest that no one outside two or three people in the White House know exactly what speeches will be made beyond those already announced. This is precaution against a cold or digestive trouble. If the President should get tired or develop a cold, then there won't be any cancellation—simply because the program won't be set up too far in advance.

Hall knows what such a cancellation would do. The election would go into a tailspin.

The doctors have gone along with these stepped-up plans, reluctantly at first, but they have gone along. One reason they gave their okay was because Ike was chafing, straining at the leash, wanting to get out and answer his critics. Also they saw what exhilaration he got from the enthusiasm of the crowds during his speeches at Des Moines and Newton, Ia. So they figure the tonic of the crowds will do him good.

Some of the schedules, however, are exhausting. When Younger Newsman who had accompanied the President on his trip to Cleveland and Lexington, Ky., returned to Washington they were worn out. They got home about 2:30 A. M. The President, flying in his private plane,

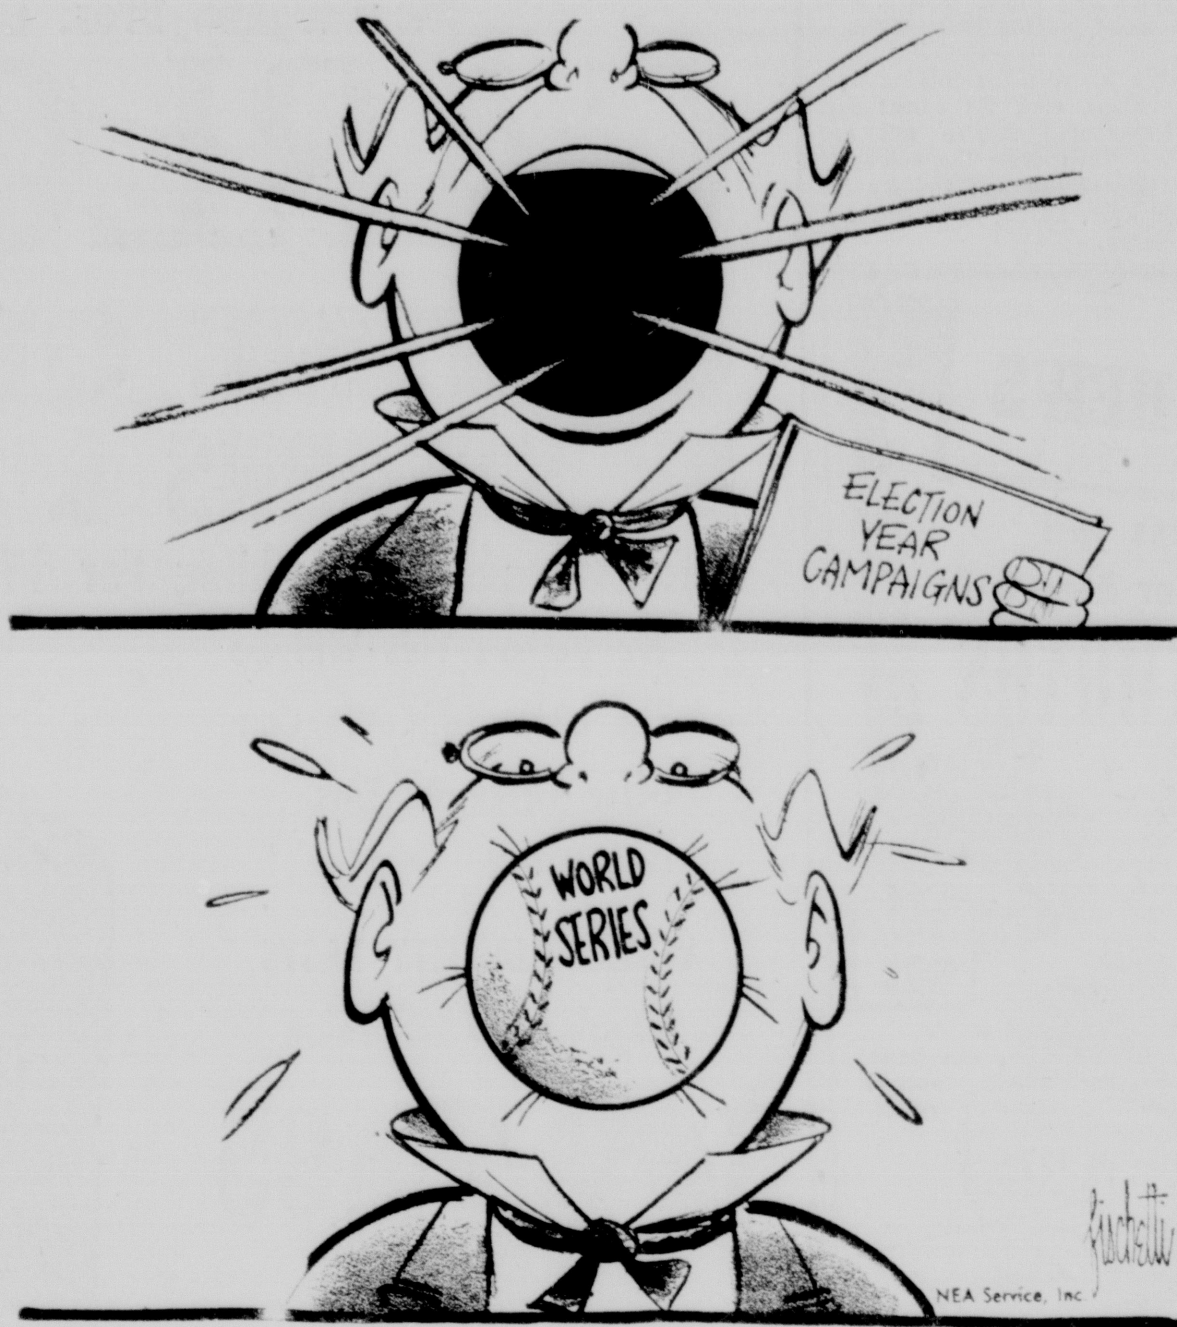

Guest Editorial—

MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL: One 'Saucer' Identified. A number of people headed home from parties in Milwaukee recently called newspapers to report a brilliant light out over Lake Michigan. They said it was about as bright as a car's headlight, that it was round 3,000 feet in the air and circling slowly to the south. Most of them—and we do not know what kind of festivities they had attended—thought it was a flying saucer.

It was actually the planet Venus and the description was reasonably accurate, except that Venus at the time was an estimated 43 million miles or so from the earth. The Milwaukee Journal solemnly asserts that Venus was mistaken for something else by the crew of a merchant ship when the planet rose from the sea during World War II. They opened up and the Navy gunnery officer was honest in logging the incident. He wrote: "Fired three rounds 5-inch 50 at planet Venus. All fell short."

In any event, it is nice to have at least one "flying saucer" fully identified.—

'Nine Commandments' Offer Aid in Chronic Headaches

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Headache is surely one of man's most common afflictions. Few of us escape entirely, and many have headaches which are so severe and so frequent as to become real health problems.

Headaches can arise from a large number of different causes. A few of them are the result of definite disease or injury to the structures inside the skull. More of them arise from disease in or around the sinuses in the head, difficulty with the eyes, or ears, or some other localized disturbance outside the brain cavity.

However, most headaches are associated with blood circulation in the brain which probably includes the common variety of headache known as migraine.

Of these headaches, some if not all, are brought on, or at least affected, by our emotions. Consequently, the attack on most headaches is first, the diagnosis of the kind, then the institution of appropriate medication or other technical medical measures. Accompanying these should be attention to those mental or emotional difficulties which may be contributing to the severity or frequency of the headaches.

At the last meeting of the American Medical Association I picked up a pamphlet on headaches prepared by a distinguished Cincinnati physician. In this pamphlet, among other things, attention was directed to the personality and emotional factors involved in so many headaches.

The pamphlet closed with what its author calls the "Nine Commandments of Headache Patient." These are so sensible and appropriate for so many headache victims that I shall quote them.

"1. This is not a perfect world. Families and friends have many foibles. Perfection is rarely attained, so be satisfied with less.

"2. Tolerance makes us understanding the other fellow easier.

It sets an attainable standard.

"3. Do not be a slave to the clock. Work at your own pace; do as much as you can. Trying to meet too many deadlines only creates tension.

"4. You cannot please everybody, so stop trying. Popularity comes by giving your friends and family a chance to love you for yourself, not for your best performance.

"5. Be efficient, yes, but not to the extent that perfection becomes a burden.

"6. Speak up if you want to. You cannot please everybody; honesty and directness break down barriers and make friendships easier.

"7. Approve of yourself. You are as good as the next fellow. If you are given a compliment, take it and make use of it.

"8. Stop being so critical of your negative feelings. Everyone is ambivalent at times, so do not worry so much about loving and hating.

"9. Stop feeling guilty. We are all human and we all make errors. Give a little and you will get a lot, maybe even a reduction of that pain in your head."

4-H Club Roundup—

Pettis Countians to Attend American Royal Conference

By OWEN FOX

Associate Agent

The Agricultural Extension Council township elections will be held in each of the 17 townships in Pettis County this week. All eligible voters, 21 years and over, are urged to vote in their respective township. All election meetings start at 8 p.m. except in La Monte, and its election begins at 7 p.m.

The 4-H members who will attend the American Royal 4-H Conference in Kansas City, Oct. 21-23, are Wanda Williams, Martha Hammond, and Otis Tegtmeyer, Jr.

New officers were elected for the County 4-H Junior Leadership Council Meeting, Tuesday night, Oct. 2, as follows: President, Virginia Grimes; vice-president, Caroline Staley; secretary, Willa Ann Sawford; treasurer, Irene Shipley; reporter, Carolee Shirley; song leader, Delta Reine; game leader, Dude Hoehns; and parliamentarian, Judy Hopkins.

Those appointed by the president, Virginia Grimes, to plan the programs for the new Junior Leadership Council year were Patti Ball, Donally Dhirley, Dude Hoehns and Joyce Stephens.

President Eisenhower has proclaimed this week of Oct. 7-13 as National Fire Prevention Week. The key to fire prevention is "Don't give fire a place to start." Why invite destructive fire on farm premises by tolerating fire hazards or incurring fire risks? Every year farm fires cost about 3,000 lives and destroy more than $150 million in property value.

Dependents Are Ready To Leave Far East After Corps Reminder

IWAKUNI, Japan (AP)—The commanding general of the U.S. 1st Marine Air Wing said today about 500 wives and children of his men are preparing to leave Japan after being reminded their residence here is against Marine Corps policy.

Some of the dependents reportedly feel the order to leave is a violation of their right to travel and live where they please on U.S. passports. The Marines brought their families here at their own expense. The families came as tourists, with Japanese visas.

The latest addition is a Navajo Brig. Gen. David F. O'Neil said his Marine Air Wing advised its personnel of an order issued last March by Gen. Randolph McCall Pate, Marine Corps commandant, that families may not "accompany nor later join" Marines assigned to the Far East.

O'Neil said about 250 Marines with an average of two dependents each are involved.

"Most will go home on Navy shipping on a space available basis," he said. "This will avoid the financial burden involved."

One More Bell

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Gertrude Kipp of Daytona Beach has just added the 1,072nd bell to her big collection.

The latest addition is a Navajo "mother-in-law" bell.

Mistakes

In every life mistakes are made

And some are grave, indeed,

For them a heavy price is paid

On downward paths they lead;

But no mistake should be so bad

That one must live in shame,

For life that's given can be sad

If constant burns that flame;

If always that mistake looms up

To leave its ugly scar.

The bitterness that filled your cup

Means naught — it's what you are,

Forget mistakes and leave behind

The shadow of the past,

For those with small mistakes are kind,

They see no shadows cast;

For they're too busy trying to do

The good things and to give

So of themselves their whole lives through

They know not how you live;

They only know that life is theirs

To live the best they can,

They only know that he who shares

Fits best in God's own plan;

They know that they must close their eyes

To faults that they might see

In other men and see what lies

Beneath their fragility;

To help them to press on and on

And in themselves believe

That from the darkness day will dawn

In great things they achieve.

GOP Answer Desk Rolls, Rocks Right Back at Foe

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—Republican National Committee headquarters has organized what it calls "The Answer Desk." Its job is to reply to charges against the Eisenhower administration made by the Democratic presidential candidate, Adlai Stevenson.

The GOP answers take the form of short statements attributed to leading Republicans.

Some of them are actually volunteered by GOP officials. Others are prepared by GOP candidates on request of headquarters. Still others are prepared by GOP publicity men, then submitted to various candidates for attribution to them.

Answers are currently being issued at the rate of four or five a day—33 in one recent week.

They are furnished to Republican candidates for use in their speeches and delivered by messenger to some 50 press and radio correspondents.

In charge of the answer desk is Frank Kluckhohn, a New York Times White House reporter in the Roosevelt era. He is now a public relations consultant, working as a volunteer in Republican headquarters.

Kluckhohn acts under a committee which meets daily. It is headed by Dr. Gabriel Hauge, President Eisenhower's economic adviser, who operates under the general direction of Gov. Sherman Adams, the assistant to the President.

Other members include former Asst. Secretary of State Henry Holland, White House Administrative Assistant I. Jack Martin and GOP National Committee Public Relations Director L. Richard Guylay.

Here are excerpts from a few of the recent Republican answers to Stevenson, to indicate their character:

By Sen. Thomas E. Martin of Iowa—"The new Stevenson in his campaign to date has not twisted facts. He has ignored them or turned them upside down. Now he has personally become a smearer as well."

By Gov. Lloyd Stratton of Illinois—"Mr. Stevenson said in a press conference that he didn't know anything about an increase in the price of hamburger. This is a far cry from the Gov. Stevenson who was up to his ears in a hamburger-horsemeat scandal in his own state back in 1952. . . . Naturally Mr. Stevenson didn't know anything about hamburger. He only knows about horsemeat."

By Rep. James P. S. Devereux of Maryland—"Adlai Stevenson has attempted to involve His Holiness Pope Plus XII in American politics in a most despicable action. He asserts that the Holy Father and other churchmen have made 'similar proposals' to his own for the United States to end its nuclear bomb testing. . . ."

By Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont—"Adlai Stevenson has set out to create a farm depression. By his gloom and doom approach, and income down for his own selfish political benefit."

By Sen. Andrew F. Schoeppel of Kansas—"Never have so many millionaires cried so suddenly for the little man as right now. . . . The pay-off is that millionaire Adlai Stevenson is hot-footing it around the country now with a hole in his shoe."

The answer desk tactic stems from President Eisenhower's remarks at the send-off breakfast for Vice President Nixon, starting his campaign.

The President told the GOP campaigners to "stick to the truth, to avoid exaggeration" and "leave the yelling to others." But he also declared that "misrepresentations and distortions" by the opposition should be corrected.

The GOP Headquarters Answer Committee is now keeping a file of what it considers Democratic misrepresentations and distortions. It is now planned to have some Republican leader, as yet unselected, pull all these remarks together for a major campaign speech attack on Stevenson.

Equal Rights for Women—

Sponsors Still Pressing For Adequate Legislation

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty

Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—Modern suffragettes are putting Congressional candidates on the spot.

A pledge favoring the equal rights amendment is being demanded from every Congressional candidate before election.

Interviews with both presidential candidates are being arranged by the joint legislative committee, representing millions of women belonging to more than 20 leading organizations.

Sentiment for passage is strengthening for the amendment which would make women "legally" equal, said Miss Alice Paul, Honorary Chairman of the National Women's party, who has been crusading for women's rights since the days she was thrown in jail for picketing the White House before women got the vote 36 years ago.

"Economic" discrimination is now what's deplored most by Miss Paul, who is going to tell both Candidates Eisenhower and Stevenson what she thinks about the 6 million government contracts which "protect the Negro or the foreign born man but not the American woman worker."

She quotes frequently from the pamphlet put out by the Committee on Government Contracts, "about which the administration brags of the clause prohibiting discrimination because of race, religion, color, or national origin." Why not add the word sex, asks Miss Paul, so women receive equal pay for equal work?

State laws differ. In some states the husband is the owner of his rights as to property; and even the guardianship of children. Community property laws do not provide equal partnership.

The Senate has twice adopted the necessary resolution, but its never passed the House.

In the present Congress, 28 Senators and 227 Representatives are sponsors and many others have indicated privately they will vote favorably but do not want to be a sponsor according to Miss Paul.

Missouri Congressional sponsors are: George H. Christopher, W. R. Hull, Jr., A. S. J. Carnahan and Morgan M. Moulder.

Ruth Millett Says—

Teamwork Needed to Keep The Respect of Offspring

Every father is responsible for seeing that his children show respect for their mother. And every mother is responsible for building up — not undermining — the children's respect for their father.

If either fails to encourage respect for the other, family life gets into a hopeless snarl.

Here is a letter from a man whose 13-year-old daughter talks back to him, refuses to obey and shows no respect in any way whatsoever.

How does she get by with it?

Well, he admits that he is an easy-going man and that he has let his wife overrule him, when there is a question about what his daughter can or can't do.

"Her mother never says 'No' to her," the father confides. "If I say 'No,' my daughter simply goes to her mother and her mother lets her do as she pleases."

"As a result she is running wild. When I try to put my foot down I get exactly no place. Her mother always takes her side."

If this mother doesn't want things to slide, until, finally, no one has any control over the daughter, she had better do an aboutface.

She should start telling her daughter that both parents will decide together what the girl will be permitted to do.

Instead of overruling the father at every turn, the wife should listen to what he has to say.

And the first time she hears her daughter being rude or disobedient to the father, she had better side with him.

Any child who learns he or she can play one parent against the other has the whip hand.

And it doesn't take a child long to figure out that if it isn't necessary to show respect for one parent, it isn't necessary to show it to the other, either.

Mule Skips Town

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Policeman C. J. Simpson tried to enforce an ordinance prohibiting stray mules.

The mule kept out of reach during a long chase and finally trotted over the city limit line where he was out of reach of the Durham ordinance. Said Simpson's official report:

"When said mule left city, I stopped."

"Oho! Now I see."

Winter Repairs Needed

Most families do major house-cleaning in the spring but many of them are doing many cleaning and repairing jobs in the fall in preparation for the winter entertaining season.

Nearly everyone spends as much time as possible out of doors in the summer time and by fall, when people move back indoors, the house is ready for extensive cleaning of a summer's collection of dust and grime.

The most methodical way of doing fall housecleaning is to make a list of all that is to be done, decide the order of importance and delegate chores to each member of the family.

Certainly after a summer of alternate dusty dry spells and muddy rainy weather, the basement and garage are going to need thorough cleaning. Garden tools should be washed and metal parts lightly oiled to prevent rust. Racks or wall hooks for storing the tools should be provided to keep them off the floor and out of the way. Garden hoses should be drained of any water remaining in the coils, and hung on the wall to prevent rotting.

Before hanging the hose, use it to sluice down cobwebs, mud-spattered walls and accumulated grime from the floor of the garage. Grease or oil spots on the garage floor may be removed with a solution of washing soda and water. Apply the solution evenly and lightly with a steel scrubbing can. Let the solution stand overnight on the spot and rinse off the loose dirt and grime the next day.

Unless the basement has been converted with wallboard and tile into a comfortable living space, it also may be washed down. Accumulated rubbish, old magazines and newspapers, boxes of worn-out clothing and broken-down furniture should be removed and destroyed or sold to a junk dealer. Any flammable furniture, clothing or other items which are to be stored in the basement should be kept away from the heating unit to prevent a possible fire.

Attics also should be inspected for flammable rubbish and useless household items which should be removed. While in the attic, check the roof for leaks and repair any attic windows which may be broken. Open attic windows will steal heat during cold weather.

Before cold weather sets in, the furnace and heating system should be checked by a competent serviceman, cleaned, repaired and adjusted for more efficient and safe heating during the winter.

Radiators throughout the home should be drained, cleaned and made ready for use.

Roof gutters and downspouts should be cleaned of leaves, twigs and other debris and painted to prevent rust.

Repair broken sidewalks with ready-mix cement. Winter ice and snow will cover cracked sidewalks, making them an accident hazard.

Before replacing screens for storm windows, make sure both are in good repair. Cracked storm window panes should be replaced and the wood frames painted to prevent rot. Cleaning, repairing and painting screens before storing them for the winter will speed the process of hanging them again in the spring.

Fall is the season to have carpets and drapes cleaned. Curtains should be washed and slip covers on sofas and overstuffed chairs should be cleaned or replaced.

Window washing, a standard fall cleaning chore, is easily done when professional methods are followed. The only equipment necessary includes a galvanized steel pail, a sponge, a soft cloth and a squeegee. Sponge the windows and squeegee them dry. The soft cloth may be used to wipe excess water from window frames.

Nearly the same method may be used to clean walls and woodwork as is used on windows. Two pails, one filled with wash water, the other with rinse water, and three soft cloths are all the equipment needed. Use one cloth, wrung out in soapy water, for washing. The second cloth may be used for rinsing and the third for drying the woodwork and walls.

Wood floors should be re-finished every few years and those in the average home are overdue. Electric floor sanding machines may be rented from most hardware stores for a nominal fee. Use a harsh grade of sand paper to get the old varnish off and to smooth out rough spots. A finer grade of sand paper will give a smooth surface to the floor. Careful staining will result in a floor that looks like new.

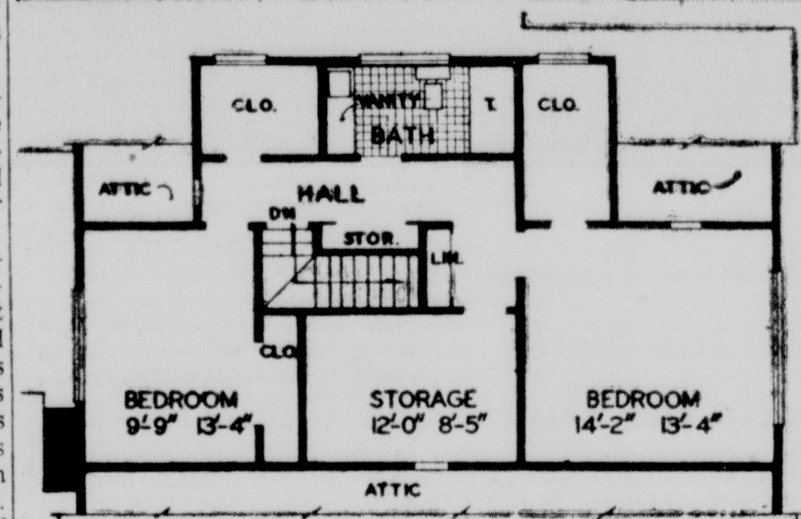

Venetian blinds in most homes require cleaning oftener than twice a year — spring and fall. Certainly they'll need it before winter sets in. Cleaning the blinds is a tedious job but one so simple that even the children can do it.

Roller-Paint Fences

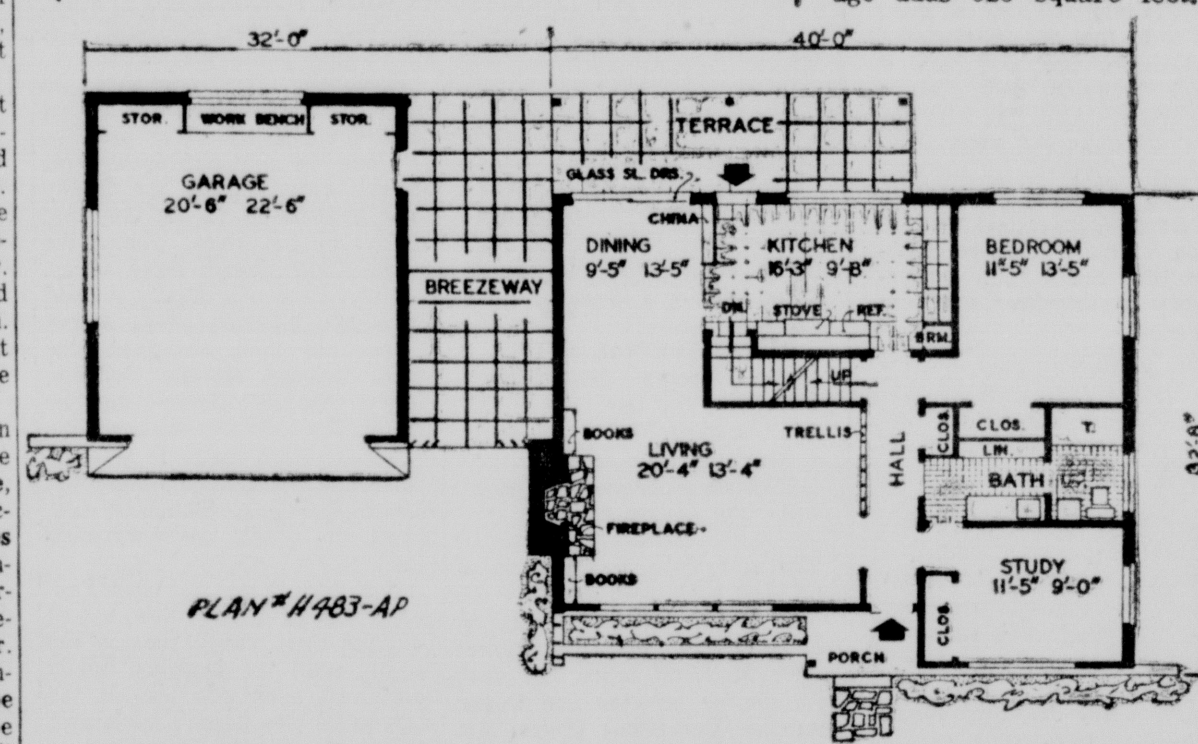

Painting wire fences no longer needs to be a tedious job with much wasted paint. Using the new fabric or long-nap rollers, working-time is more than cut in half and less paint is scattered on the painter and ground.

Home and Building

A HOUSE that grows with your budget, this plan can be carried out in stages. You can build it with an unfinished attic, running plumbing lines up for the future bathroom. You can add the garage and breezeway when you can afford them and finish the upstairs as your family grows. This is plan H-483AP by the Homograph Co., 11711 East Eight Mile Rd., East Detroit, Mich. The house covers 1,475 square feet, has 36,153 cubic feet with basement, and garage adds 528 square feet.

Falls and Burns Are Main Perils--

Common-Sense Care Around the House Can Prevent Serious Injury, Possible Death

That roller skate can be the death of you, particularly if it's abandoned on a poorly lighted stairway. Falls are one of the leading causes of death in home accidents which take over 29,000 lives every year. Every 18 minutes, someone dies in a home accident, according to studies made by safety officials.

Next to falls, burns are probably the second largest cause of injury and death in the home. Some of these fires are caused by faulty electrical wiring, defective chimneys and heating equipment. No furnace or heater should be turned on for the winter until it has been carefully examined by a competent serviceman. Deadly gas leaks may also be found in air ducts and chimneys.

Safe fire-tending equipment is as vital as safe heating equipment. Combustible containers, safety authorities say, should be replaced by galvanized steel ash cans or steel baskets to hold hot ashes and cinders from the furnace.

Many more fires are caused by accumulated rubbish in attics and basements. Such rubbish should be removed and burned safely outdoors, away from house and garage.

Other fires are caused by explosions which occur when leaking gas from space heaters, ranges, refrigerators and other household appliances is ignited. All appliances should be checked for leaky connections and fittings.

Each year, many persons are severely burned as a result of improper use of flammable cleaning fluids. When such fluids must be used, take precautions that no open flame is allowed nearby and that the fluid is stored in an airtight container, such as a galvanized steel fuel can, and kept away from heated areas.

Burns received in cooking are common injuries, with children frequently the victims. Hot pots and pans on the range should have their handles turned toward the back of the range so that children cannot reach them and dump hot food or scalding water on themselves.

Other home hazards include faulty or inadequate wiring, shaky stair rails or no hand rails at all, and loose stairway carpeting. An able electrician should be called on to repair or replace faulty wiring. Loose stairway carpeting should be tacked down firmly and scatter rugs kept away from the top or bottom of stairways. Each stairway should have sturdy hand rails. Shaky stair hand rails should be replaced or at least braced.

Proper lighting will prevent many accidents in the home. Every area in the home should be lighted well enough that no member of the family will have difficulty seeing obstacles. All light bulbs should be in order and should be of sufficient power to give adequate light for the area they serve.

Basement and attic stairways often are littered with boxes, stacks of magazines and other rubbish. Such litter should be cleared away to prevent someone from suffering a bad fall. The old joke about stepping on a roller skate at the top of a stairway and bouncing all the way down is not funny when it happens to you or another member of the family. Children should be instructed in the importance of storing toys out of the way. Parents should set them a good example.

Every home has its own danger zones for accidents. Each family should inspect its own home and remove these and other hazards to prevent costly and painful injuries and even deaths from home accidents.

Many Don't Realize Danger—

Improper Storage of Fuels Around Homes Causes Fires

What with power lawn mowers, outboard motors, gasoline-powered model airplanes and the do-it-yourself trend, nearly every American home has some type of flammable fuel or other fluid on hand. Unless handled properly and stored carefully, these fluids can cause disastrous explosions and fires.

Particularly with winter approaching, when these fuels and cleaning agents will not be used as frequently, care should be given to careful storage of the fluids. A can of gasoline may be left near the home heating plant when that unit is not operating. If forgotten, the gasoline could explode with the heat from the furnace when it is turned on.

Gasoline, kerosene, turpentine and other flammable fluids should be safely stored in leak-proof metal containers, such as galvanized steel fuel cans, and kept away from heating pipes, furnaces or electrically operated appliances or tools. If possible, store such fluids in the garage or a tool shed, away from the house or summer cottage. A properly designed fuel can is equipped with a screw type cap and pouring spout with cap to safely confine dangerous fumes.

Although many persons are cautious with gasoline and kerosene, they are careless with turpentine and flammable cleaning or painting liquids. Workbenches are bad places for fires to begin, with their sawdust, wood scraps and other flammable items. Flammable liquids should be carefully sealed to prevent combustible fumes from escaping and being ignited by a lighted cigarette or electrical short circuit.

Many homemakers don't realize that they are taking their lives in their hands whenever they try to save the breadwinner money on cleaning bills by removing food and ink stains and other spots on clothing with a flammable cleaning fluid.

Such fluids are dangerous even when properly used. If a flammable fluid must be used, exercise extreme caution in keeping the open container away from burning cigarettes, heating units or other things which might start a fire or cause an explosion. When ever possible, use a cleaning fluid

Wall Washing Is Easy

Wall-washing is tough only if you go about it the wrong way. The easy method calls for assembly of all equipment in one place and proper technique. Two galvanized steel pails, one filled with soapy water, the other with rinse water, and a long-handled sponge mop are the only equipment necessary. Swab down the wall with rich soapsuds, starting at the bottom, then rinse with clear water. The bottom-to-top method of washing prevents hard - to - remove streaks from dirty wash water.

which is not flammable. Many non-flammable cleaning fluids are available.

Tigers Upset Hornets 20-19

Newman Leads Smith-Cotton Past NKC in 2nd Half Rally

Trailing 6-19 and five minutes and 47 seconds left in the game, the Smith-Cotton Tigers pulled in their belts, turned on the fighting spirit, played heads up football and went on to beat out the North Kansas City High School Hornets 20-19; an upset if every Sedalia football fans saw one and an appreciated one at that.

It fairly evened up things for the Tigers who took it on the chin in 1955, but went on to have a most successful season after that whipping. For sure Sedalians can be proud of the locals not only for their spirit of play and winning but for their actions on the field of sports.

The team sparked by the determination of Charles Newman, senior halfback of the Tigers, saw the boys pulling together, and went out to win in the final stanza of the game. Newman, with a lot of help from his team mates, had the honors bestowed upon him of crossing the goal line three times and his educated toe booted the ball over the cross bar twice, the necessary margin to win the game. (Although the last one barely went over the bar by inches).

The first quarter started off a thriller. North Town, under an exchange of the ball five times put on a 49 yard drive for the score. Taking it on the Tiger 49, they picked up a first down and worked it down to the 28 when Carroll Cheek Hornet fullback carried it the distance through a mass of startled Tigers for the score. His place kick was wide.

Two plays later the score was tied. Elvin Basham kicked off for the Hornets with Larry Clark taking it on the 35 and dashing through the field for 55 yards and putting the ball on the 10 yard line. Newman skirted around end for the touchdown and missed the kick.

The tie didn't last long. Gates kicked off to Don Smith who carried from his 10 to the 26 yard line. The Hornets moved it down the field making a first down and to their own 47 yard line. Then Bob Haines broke out around end and went dashing through the Tigers for 53 yards and the touchdown. This time Cheek made his kick good and they led 13-6, ending the first quarter.

Near the end of the second quarter after the teams had exchanged the ball four times the Hornets took charge on the Tiger 29 yard line. Two first downs and the visitors had moved it to within six inches of the goal, and with a firstdown coming up Mike Hedrick took the pigskin and shoved it through the center of the line for the touchdown. Again Cheek missed the kick and the score stood Hornets 19, Tigers 6.

The Tigers never offered a threat in the period and the half closed with the visitors holding a comfortable lead.

Behind the scenes during the halftime two teams were getting lectures, the Hornets no doubt were being encouraged to boost the score, boost it high, while over next door the weary Tigers were getting some refresher courses on what they had studied all last week and what they hadn't followed as to instructions during the first half of the game.

From the kickoff at the opening of the second half it looked like the Tigers had had it. North Town kicked off and the Tigers took it on their own 37 yard line. On the first play Marshall Bryan fumbled and the visitors took over. This not only irritated the Smith-Cotton coaching staff but the Tigers themselves, and the battle was on.

Back and forth the ball passed between the two teams with neither making any real threats. The quarter ended with the Tigers in possession of the ball.

Opening the fourth period the Tigers had the ball on their 17 yard line and worked it up to the mid-stripe of the field, and then a fumble occurred with the Hornets grabbing the ball on the Tiger 46 yard line. On the very next play, with five minutes and 47 seconds of the game time left, Konnie Misner, Hornet quarterback, dropped back and heaved what appeared to be a long pass intended for Cheek, but instead Charles Newman jumped up, grabbed the ball on the Tiger 45 yard line and scooted down the east side of the field to pay-dirt—a run of 55 yards. He made his kick good and the score was then Hornets 19, Tigers 13.

Guy Smith kicked off and Cheek received the ball on his 20 and returned it to the Hornet 36. Four yards were picked up, then they were penalized 15 yards, moving the ball back to the 27. A pass was incomplete, Cheek added three yards and a punt was necessary, with Sedalia's Newman taking it on his own 30 and got but a yard. With little more than two minutes to go, the 79 yard drive was on its way. Kasak picked up a yard, Bryan added one, then Newman made a first down on an 11 yard gain. Bryan lost two yards, he fumbled on the next play but recovered with a five yard loss. Newman dropped back and heaved a pass to Roger Gates, which was good for 37 yards and the ball was on 25 yard line. On the next play North Town was penalized 15 yards after Newman had started through with the ball and from the penalty point the ball was placed on the seven yard line. Newman added two yards.

Just 53 seconds were left in the game. Everyone was tense, it was just like down in Springfield when a touchdown would mean victory but Springfield intercepted a pass. Everybody in the stands were wondering what was coming. The team went out of the huddle, the ball was snapped, passed over to Newman and he shot like a bullet around his left end into the end zone. The score was all tied up. Newman stepped back, the ball was snapped and he booted it, sending it wobbling end-over-end, to clear the bar by inches. It was the winning point.

Smith kicked off — it was a short kick. A bobble might mean a score for the Hornets at this point. But the Hornets dived for the ball — it looked like all 11 of them were there — but when the pile was cleared away, down under it all was Guy Smith. He had recovered a Hornet fumble and it was the Tiger's ball again. The clock was gradually ticking off the seconds.

Murray carried it for five yards. On the next play Jim Goodrich was sent in at end, and just before the ball was snapped the clock ran out. Cheek dashed across the line of scrimmage and took a hefty swing at Goodrich which didn't connect, but the officials caught the incident. The Hornets were penalized, and the Tigers were offered another play if they wanted it, but the game was in the bag and they declined.

It was the upset of the season to date. The Tigers' rating zooms up and now they have plenty to think about: Hannibal next Friday at Hannibal; a trip to Columbia for a game with the Hickman Kewpies; and back home on Oct. 26 for the Homecoming game with the Jefferson City Jays. Raytown, Mexico and Kemper follow in order.

Shockey Bowls High of Season With 266 Score

Bill Shockey, bowling in the men's Monday Classic League, registered the high game of the season in official action at the Sedalia Bowling Lanes with a sterling 266 performance.

Nearly every league race tightened during the week as local bowlers displayed over-all improvement. Teams which had threatened to move into comfortable leads instead found their positions uncertain, while several lowly aggregations picked-up "must" wins to move back into championship contention.

In men's competition other high games included Bill Rock's 256, Jack Vaughn's 248, and 234 games by Dick Eickhoff and Gerald Horst. Rock posted the week's high series with a 625, followed by Eickhoff and Shockey with 604 combinations. In the women's leagues Mary Scott of Hamlin's rolled a 218 for high single game honors and a 528 series for another high. Carrie Campeau recorded a 203 game and the second and third highest series of 522 and 515. Oda Boss turned-in a 204 single game and a 514 series.

Mizzou Rallies Too Late

Tigers Lose 33-27 To SMU Following Rousing 27-Point Drive in 2nd Half

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 6 (P) — Southern Methodist's Mustangs rode the airplanes today on the great throwing arm of quarterback Charley Arnold to turn back an aroused University of Missouri football team, 33-27.

The Mustangs, who rose to national prominence by stopping Notre Dame in their opening game and then slumping last week before Georgia Tech, roared back today but not until Coach Don Faurot's Missouri Tigers had put them to the real test.

Twice both teams rolled from behind but in the end the difference Arnold's pigskin pitching. He was on the firing end of three of the four Mustang touchdowns scored through the air.

But it was substitute quarterback Larry Click who fired the most spectacular shot through the air, a 62-yard heave to Charley Jackson with 2 seconds left in the first half.

It came on the heels of Arnold's loss to right end Leighton Steward (Missouri) came back quickly in the second half, rolling up two touchdowns with quarterback Jim Hunter going over on a one yard plunge and then passing 14 yards to halfback Charley James in the end zone corner for the other.

The Tigers, still to taste victory this season, were not long in command. Arnold fired a 34-yard touchdown pass play to Steward this time. And before the third quarter ended Jackson, on a hand off, went over on a two-yard plunge for only SMU touchdown scored from the ground.

But again in the fourth, Missouri went into the lead but once more failed to hold it.

SMU 0 13 13 33
Missouri 0 0 14 13-27
SMU scoring — Touchdowns: Steward 2, 18, pass-run from Arnold; 34, pass-run from Arnold; Jackson 2, 62, pass - run from Click; 2, plunge; Masters, 18, pass from Arnold Conversion, Click 2, Masters 1.

MU scoring—Touchdowns, Hunter 1, plunge; James 14, pass from Hunter; Cramer 2, plunge; Kuhlman 7, run; Conversions: Rash 2, Stout 1.

On Golf

By FRANKIE REYNOLDS

Jackson Wilt, a steady, free-swinging Sedalia Country Club linkster, stroked his way through the thick of a strong Sedalia City Golf Championship field and capped his drive last Sunday by cutting down Bernard Stanfield 9-and-8 to become the first undisputed city champion.

In real championship fashion Wilt slashed at par in the opening 18 holes of the finals match to card a 34-33-67. On Sunday, he needed only a 40 on the first nine holes and a par on the tenth to drop the curtain on Stanfield in 28 holes of a scheduled 36-hole match.

Wilt can't claim to possess a beautifully grooved golf swing, nor can he boast an impressive record over the years. But he's steady and has determination when in competition, which was what helped carry him through against the smooth-swinging Stanfield for the city title.

Sedalia golfers will honor Wilt appropriately Wednesday night in an awards dinner at the Country Club at 7:30 o'clock.

The city event climaxed a big year of tournament and competitive golf in Sedalia which saw most of the men, women and junior golfers get into the act. And from all indications the competition will be even bigger and better next year.

Teenettes Reorganize, Seek Volleyball Games

Sedalia's Teenettes have been re-organized again for the fourth straight year and are now looking to schedule volleyball games through the winter season. Their manager, Walter McMellen, who also coaches the team, asks that any girls team desiring to schedule games with the Teenettes to contact him either at his home or at Horace Mann school.

Twelve girls who started out as youngsters with the original team are still on the squad with several newcomers earning berths on the squad. The original members still playing are Mary Lou Cook, Jackie Wilson, Nona Payne, Loyce Jean Curtis, Barbara Mc Mackin, Jeanette Goldsmith, Elizabeth Sullivan, Rita Napier, Donna Lynn, Carolyn Kelley, Judy Jiedel, and Mary Jones.

New girls several having played last year are Sarah Sutton, Mary Lee Brewer, Karen McMullen, Linda Landis, Judy Weseloh, Wanda Biggs, Clara Williams, Mary Keithman and Wanda Blaylock.

The Teenettes practice on Saturday mornings from 9 until 11 at Horace Mann, and hold practice Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 at

Sports Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

THIS is a right good time to pay tribute to the Smith-Cotton Tigers for their sportsmanship shown in the game Friday night against North Kansas City. And it is a good time to impress upon them that sportsmanship oft times pays dividends not only in winning games but the admiration of the fans even if they lose.

Friday night the display of the Tigers stood out like a beacon light on an airport. The boys were in there battling all the way to win, but not once did we in the press box observe a Tiger losing his head, getting hot-headed, and exhibiting himself in such a manner which would draw the wrath of the fans.

What we like to see is the spirit whether they win or lose, of meeting the other players on the field when the game is over and shaking hands congratulating them for their playing and such. This has been shown in their first four games of the season, and in the three previous games they played up to Friday night their opponents acted in the same manner.

Friday night, a boy who was the star of the North Kansas City team had displayed beautiful work, displayed a courage of doing everything he could for his team, but in the split final second, he lost the admiration of many in the stands. All because he became hot-headed and kept that attitude even when our boys offered to shake hands with him.

Jim Goodrich, who had been riding the bench because of an injury had gone in for the final play and was at end. Just as the ball was snapped, this Hornet backfield man rushed across the line and took a hefty swing at Goodrich without effect. The officials saw it and penalized the Hornets, and gave the Tigers a chance for another play if they so desired, as the penalty was made as the play was in progress and just a split second before the clock ran out. The Tigers, already the winner, refused.

Other Hornets rushed over shook hands with the Tigers and vice-versa, but this lone Hornet shrugged them off and displayed an attitude of fight, and his fellow players took him off the field. One of our Tigers stepped in to hold up the honor of Sedalia, but it wasn't necessary and he went on around an shook hands with the other Hornets and patted them on the back.

I am sure Coach Francis Gailbraith wasn't too proud of his boy's actions and will see that he is reprimanded for his acts which reflected unsportsmanlike conduct. I know that if a Tiger player acted like that he probably would get the "boot", whether a star or a scrub.

CHARLES Newman, the five foot nine, 150 pounds, Tiger halfback, shone like a star in the game. He put the spark to

Dick Younger Hits Deer With Bow-Arrow

Dick Younger, 605 West 20th, shot a deer, a 7-point buck, in Johnson County in Montserrat State Park Saturday afternoon with bow and arrow. The archer season is in progress in Missouri during the month of October.

Younger killed his deer from about 70 yards away as the deer was running.

Younger was in the company of a fellow archer, Roy Younger, another Sedalian, at the time of the kill.

Myers, Dusek Vie for State Title on Mat

TUESDAY'S WRESTLING CARD

In Sedalia Armory — 8:15
MEN'S FEATURE MATCH
Sonny Myers, 226, St. Joseph, Mo., vs. Joe Dusek, 233, Omaha. Best two out of three falls, or a 60-minute time limit. (For the Missouri state heavyweight championship.)

GIRLS' FEATURE MATCH
Joan Ballard, 136, Chicago, vs. Lorraine Johnson, 140, Red Wing, Minn. Best two out of three falls, or a 45-minute time limit.

MEN'S SPECIAL EVENT
Mario DeSouza, 230, Lisbon, Portugal, vs. Jack Donovan, 225, Leesburg, Fla. One fall, or a 30-minute time limit.

Matches sponsored by Pettis American Legion Post.

The state wrestling title deadlock must be broken tonight!

This is the mandate issued by the American Wrestling Association's Mid-West office and deals with the tie between Joe Dusek, champion, and Sonny Myers, Missouri's own challenger.

Dusek and Myers will renew hostilities tonight when they collide in a best-of-three falls battle for the Missouri championship trophy in the Sedalia Armory ring. The title clash will be part of a double feature on the outstanding three-match program, starting at 8:15.

The deadlocked tie situation occurred here Sept. 18 when Myers and Dusek battled to a blood-spattered stalemate. When time ran out each wrestler had one fall and they were bleeding from cuts on the head and eyebrows, a direct result of their vicious forearming and slugging spree in the final 15 minutes of the heated action.

When the bell ended the battle royal there wasn't a spectator in the ringside seats. Efforts by Myers to get the match extended 10 minutes failed when Dusek yelped to the referee he had enough for one night, then stalked sullenly out of the ring.

Two top-flight girl mat stars — Lorraine Johnson and Joan Ballard — will come to grips in the feminine feature here Tuesday. Both girls will be making their first Armory appearances and they both come to Sedalia with outstanding victory records in the national ratings this year.

Miss Johnson is known as the "Little Tigress of matdom" and she's considered to be the roughest member of the feminine wrestling ranks. Lorraine is a native of Red Wing, Minn., and was a figure skater before turning pro.

Miss Ballard was a New York model and also competed in several east coast bathing beauty contests a few years back. She has been wrestling for four years and is rated as the best bet for the women's title from the Great Lakes region.

A match which could easily rate as a headliner in itself will be presented as the opener and introduces Portugal's top heavyweight—Mario DeSouza. Now touring the United States, DeSouza has proved himself to be a rugged competitor and has appeared in numerous national televised matches out of Chicago in recent months. Mario's debut here will be against talent "Gator" Man Jack Donovan.

The Armory doors and box office will be open Tuesday night at 7:15 with the first match belled into the ring one hour later. The advance ticket sale is being conducted at the Pacific Cafe and Midway Shoe Repair Shop.

Mississippi football coach Johnny Vaught coached the Ole Miss line in 1946 and the next year he became head coach.

Slaughter, Ford Help Push Yanks Back Into Contention

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (P)—Enos Slaughter, the ever-hustling 40-year-old "country boy," helped Whitey Ford boost the New York Yankees back into the World Series today with a three-run homer in the sixth inning for a 5-3 victory over Brooklyn after two staggering defeats.

The former St. Louis Cardinal and erstwhile Kansas City A's outfielder obtained on waivers Aug. 25, slammed a Roger Craig pitch into the lower right field seats with Hank Bauer and Yogi Berra on base and two out in the sixth. Slaughter's homer was his seventh Series hit, boosting his average to a shiny .583.

The Yankees, who played in a dreary haze for two days in Brooklyn, reacted violently to the bumper crowd of 73,977 on their return to Yankee Stadium.

An eye-catching relay from Hank Bauer to Billy Martin to Andy Carey cut down Carl Furillo trying to stretch a double into a triple, snuffing out the Dodgers' last threat to Ford in the ninth.

Ford, who lasted only three innings in the opening defeat by Sal Maglie, curled his curve past the Dodgers for an eight-hitter, his fourth Series triumph. The chunky little left-hander walked only two and struck out seven, fanning the feared Duke Snider three times.

It was Ford who finally stopped Brooklyn's hit-crazy sluggers but it was old man Slaughter who really finished off the Dodgers. Hero of the 1946 Series when he dashed three bases on a routine single into right center to give the Cards the championship over the Boston Red Sox, Slaughter continued his terrific heart-warming play.

Ford and Craig had been engaged in a cut-throat battle, locked 1-1 after they traded runs in the second, until the Dodgers finally opened up a one-run lead in the sixth on Pe Wee Reese's triple past Mickey Mantle and Snider's deep sacrifice fly to Mantle.

The crowd, largest to see a Series game in New York since Oct. 5, 1947, sensed it was now or never for the Yanks as they came in for their whacks in the sixth with the top of the order coming up.

Bauer, hitless in two previous trips against the lean right-hander, looped a single into short left field. Grandstand second-guessers had a field day when Joe Collins instead of bunting with the tying run on first and nobody out, swung at the first pitch and fled to Snider.

When Mantle, whose only hit was a drag bunt single in the first popped to Gil Hodges, Yank hopes sagged, Craig was two thirds of the way out of his jam.

Berra kept it alive with a single to right center after looking at one strike and swinging at another.

There was a rumbling in the triple-decked stands when Slaughter, leading Yankee Series hitter, strode to the plate. Craig got the first pitch over for a called strike while old Enos looked. Then came three balls in succession.

Swinging on the 3-1 pitch, Slaughter drove the ball over the head of Furillo, straining at the leash at the very edge of the right-field barrier. It sailed about four rows back while Bauer, Berra and Slaughter circled the bases.

If it is true that the Yanks had voted Enos only a half-share in the series, subject to revision if he had a "good Series" the Yanks must have cast a unanimous ballot for a full share.

Slaughter wasn't the whole game but it seemed that way to the customers. He treated them to the same dose of drama that Maglie, 39, gave them on opening day.

Slaughter's hit was the finest moment of this tense, close-to-the-vest ball game but it didn't have too much on the thrilling race between tween Furillo and the Yankee relay in the ninth.

Leading off the ninth, Furillo smashed a Ford pitch to the auxiliary scoreboard in right center. Not content with two bases, Furillo roomed on toward third. Bauer's throw to Martin and a perfect relay to Carey just nipped him sliding into third. The next two Dodgers went quietly, Roy Campanella taking a called third strike and Charlie Neal rolling out to Carey.

Marlene Bauer Leads Women In KCTourney

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 6 (P)—Marlene Bauer Haggis of Crossinger, N. Y., shot a 38-39-77, one over par, today to go with her 67 for a 144 total at the end of 36 holes and a one-stroke lead in the $5,000 Heart of American open golf tournament at Hillcrest Country Club.

In a three-way tie for second place are Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S. C., Louise Suggs, Sea Island, Ga., and Mary Lene Faulk, Thomasville, Ga., each with a 145 total.

Rawls posted a 39-37-76, two under, to go with her 69 on opening day. Suggs was two under women's par with a 37-37-74 and Miss Faulk had a 36-38-74.

Mariynn Smith, Wichita, Kan., the defending champion, had the best score in the second round over the wind swept, dusty course. She was three under par with 37-36-73, five strokes lower than her 78 yesterday, which gave her a 151 total. She is seven strokes behind the leader.

West Plains Saddle Club to Give Show At American Royal

Mrs. Bea Smith, Ottleville, secretary of the Missouri State Saddle Club Association, has been informed that the Pioneer Saddle Club of West Plains, who received the state championship award at the recent State Show in drilling, will present the drill as an exhibition at the matinee show at the American Royal in Kansas City, on Missouri Day, Oct. 23.

State Fair Saddle Club To Meet Monday Night

The State Fair Saddle Club will hold its regular business meeting and steak supper Monday night, Oct. 8, at 6 p.m. at Liberty Park. Bring family service and a pie.

Two gasoline stations and a motel kept Harry Gilmer, quarterback for the Detroit Lions, busy in the off season.

Diversified Hockey Schedule

NEW YORK (AP)—In an effort to cater to the commuters who live outside New York City, the New York Rangers have set up a unique hockey schedule for the coming season. Sixteen games are set for a 7 o'clock Sunday night start. There will also be two Saturday afternoon games. The Rangers open the season Wednesday, Oct. 17 against the Boston Bruins in Madison Square Garden.

University of Kentucky football coach Blanton Collier spent 16 years in the schoolboy coaching ranks.

New York Giant football coach Jim Lee Howell played end for Arkansas teams almost 20 years ago.

Memphis Golfer Defeats Rudolph In Southwestern

FORT SMITH, Ark., Oct. 6.—(AP)—Curtis Persons of Memphis, one of the top amateurs in Tennessee, defeated Medalist Mason Rudolph of Memphis 1 up today in the semi-finals of the Southwestern Golf Tourney here.

Earlier, Persons defeated Tommy Donoho of Fort Smith 3 and 2 in the third round while Rudolph, a 23-year-old Memphis State College student, beat Mel Ray of Greenwood, Ark., 7 and 6.

The final rounds — 18 holes in the morning and 18 in the afternoon — are scheduled tomorrow.

Persons will compete with Bill Webb of Kansas City, Mo., who defeated Jerry Breckenridge of Hot Springs 3 and 2 and Alf Williams of Fort Smith 1 up today.

Williams defeated Jim Hisey of Houston, Tex., 1 up on 19 holes in the other championship flight match.

Needles, 1956 Kentucky Derby winner, will be pointed for the $100,000 Widener Handicap to be run at Hialeah on Feb. 23, 1957.

Whiteman AFB Bowling Now Well Underway

Bowling is taking a hand at the Whiteman Air Force Base and three leagues are well on their way into the season play. The Tuesday night league is known as the "Odd Ball" League and that rolling on Wednesday is the American while the Friday teams are in the National. The National League is just getting started.

After two weeks of bowling the Targeteers are on top in the "Odd Ball" with seven games won and two losses, and possess 10 points while in the American League the Headquarters Squadron, Bomb Wing, is on top also having a 7-2 standing and have 10 points.

Messer has the top individual score to date with a 255 which he rolled on Tuesday. He is rolling an average of 195. He is in the "Odd Ball" League. Stofira rolling in the American has a high individual game of 246 and his average to date is slightly more than 200.

A/C Michael L. Hamalak, is secretary-treasurer of the leagues.

Yale has 80 per cent of its undergraduates participating in athletics.

The Sedalia Democrat-Capital proudly salutes those who deliver its newspapers.

These boys are the final link in the chain of producing and servicing the Democrat-Capital. These boys are the business men of tomorrow learning business methods today. They meet people, handle records and money, pay their accounts, in short, handle their own business. They are tomorrow's leaders.

THE DEMOCRAT-CAPITAL WANTS TO THANK THE PEOPLE OF SEDALIA AND SURROUNDING TERRITORY FOR COOPERATING WITH THESE YOUNG MEN IN TRANSACTING THEIR BUSINESS.

YOUR Savings ON A HARDWICK WILL HELP REMODEL YOUR KITCHEN

Now you can have the gas range you have dreamed of and save enough money to have a bright new look in your kitchen too! Feature for feature HARDWICK costs less than any other range.

No stove can equal Hardwick's three star performance — on the top burners, in the big oven and the live-flame broiler. And look at these features: Automatic top burner lighting; Smokeless broiler; Oven heat control; Balanced heat oven; Built-in timer.

Points Out Years of Progress--

National President Speaks to Home Town
Business, Professional Women's Club

Miss Hazel Palmer, president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, honored her own club Thursday evening by taking time out of her busy schedule to be the speaker at the outstanding meeting of the year, the public affairs banquet. She has been making addresses and radio and television appearances all over the United States almost constantly since her election to office and for the past several years before during the time she has held national offices, and so began her address to her own townspeople and those of surrounding clubs with, "There is no place under the sun like home."

In her talk on "Women's Role in the Progressive Age", Miss Palmer began by saying this ends National Business Women's Week and the annual observance of such a week began in 1928. She went on to tell of other things that happened that year and how far the country has come since that time. It was the year, she said, of the great German Zeppelin, of the first talking pictures, of the exile of Trotsky from Russia, of the election of the second man from Pettis County to represent the people in Washington, as Congressman, her own father, John W. Palmer. Those things happened that year and many things have happened since that time.

Miss Palmer pointed out the great advancement in air travel since the Zeppelin. You can get any place in the world, she told the group by great passenger planes of today, except Sedalia. Most of her traveling is done by air she said as is done by people everywhere who also must get from one place to another quickly. To come to Sedalia, she went on to say, she must go to Kansas City first by plane and then take a train from there to Sedalia and if she is going west she must go back to Kansas City to catch a plane. If she is going east she must go to St. Louis and she told the group if she must do this to get to her own home town and out of it, what about the many businessmen from other places and here, too, who must travel by plane? It takes longer to get from Sedalia to St. Louis, she said, than it does to get from St. Louis to New York City.

During the years, she said, more and more women have gone into jobs in business and industry, there are 22½ million women on the payroll today earning 36 billion dollars. Suppose, she said, all of them decided to stay home in the morning, what would happen? The per cent of the teachers are women. What would happen to the hospitals where the great percentage of nurses, nutritionists and technicians are women? Communications would be in a bad way because 90 per cent of the operators are women. Congress would only have 12 vacant seats but they would lose powerful representation, and 75 per cent of the sales forces of America are women. One woman out of every three works at some kind of job, and every working person out of three is a woman.

Women, she said, are now an indispensable part of the economy. How many men, she questioned, can make enough to buy all the things of today's standard of living?

It is the desire, Miss Palmer said, of almost any woman to contribute to the community whether she is earning a living or whether she is ringing doorbells for some deserving drive. Giving of herself to the community, she is earning her place in the sun. Today we have reached the place of no return. We must go forward as individuals and community wise. The role of women of these times is great, and in a town that grows there is added responsibility and added burden, she said.

The atompower, the radar, the wonder drugs can mean much, the speaker said, but in the wrong hands they could prove fatal.

We pause to pay tribute to the men we work with and live with, said Miss Palmer, and in the nation whose future destiny will be determined by its own people, may we find our proper place and may we play our part very well.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Anna Bagby, president and the speaker was introduced by Mrs. Frieda Nelson, one of the four charter members remaining in the club today. Mrs. Nelson was one of the two women who talked Miss Palmer into accepting the national board which started the way up.

Invocation was given by Mrs. Ray Crosslin, and Mrs. Duane Ewing introduced the musicians who furnished the dinner music. The string ensemble from Central Missouri College was composed of Rayburn Pierce, violin, (CMSC); Gerald Edson, violin, (Independence); Shirley Kirkpatrick, viola, (Sedalia); Karen Crosslin, cello, (Sedalia); and Marion Davies, piano, (CMSC). Special numbers of two young students at CMSC proved very delightful, Patty Byler, soprano, Boonville and John Chronsiter, baritone, of Blue Springs, who sang "Wanting You" from "The New Moon". Romberg and "Italian Street Song" from Naughty Marietta, Herbert. As an encore they sang "Gypsy Love Song."

Mrs. Bagby welcomed and introduced the guests: Mrs. Inez Mudd, Eldon, director of District IV, Business and Professional Women from Boonville, Windsor, Slater, Jefferson City, Columbia, and Eldon; Miss Margaret Bohon, president of the American Business Women's Association; Floyd Priddy, president of the Chamber of Commerce, the Rev. T. W. Croxton, president of Rotary, and Mrs. Croxton; Jack Shoemaker, president of Kiwanis, and Mrs. Shoemaker; Mrs. Charles Hofheins, worthy matron of Pettis Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, and Mr. Hofheins; Miss Doris Stott, worthy matron of Sedalia Chapter, OES; Mrs. Leland Coontz, president of the Past President's Club, Sedalia chapter 57, OES; Mrs. John White, president of the Missouri Pacific Women's Club; Mrs. C. F. Scotten, wife of the president of the Knife and Fork Club; George H. Scruton, editor of the Sedalia Democrat Co., and Mrs. Scruton; J. W.

Palmer, Hazel's father and her sister, Mrs. Burleigh Jeffries; Mrs. Norman Scotten, a BPWC member who served the dinner; and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Yates, KSIS.

Mrs. Bagby then introduced the chairman of the public affairs committee, Mrs. Emory Bowman. Mrs. Frieda Nelson, Mrs. Darrell Bail, Mrs. Everett White, Mrs. C. Everett Stumpf and Mrs. W. C. Asker and members of the committee: Mrs. Elmer Adams, Mrs. Mary Dillthey, Miss Eva Evans, Mrs. Beulah Ewing, Miss Erma Fajen, Mrs. Virginia Flower, Miss Lois Fricke, Mrs. Jacquetta Provell, Mrs. Okeke Rice, Mrs. J. F. Schumacher, Mrs. Norman Scotten and Mrs. R. C. Williamson.

The programs had a very lovely picture of Miss Palmer on the cover, and responsible for the programs were Miss Lois Fricke and Miss Mary Ellen Merrill. Mrs. Bagby also introduced her executive board: Miss Doris Stott, first vice-president; Mrs. Frank Wagner, second vice-president; Mrs. Marjorie Garanson, treasurer and Mrs. Glenn King, secretary.

A very large arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums was on the speaker's table and in front of the table was a huge BPWC emblem. Lighted candles and greenery were on all the tables.

Miss Palmer was presented a gift from the club.

Hold Second Election

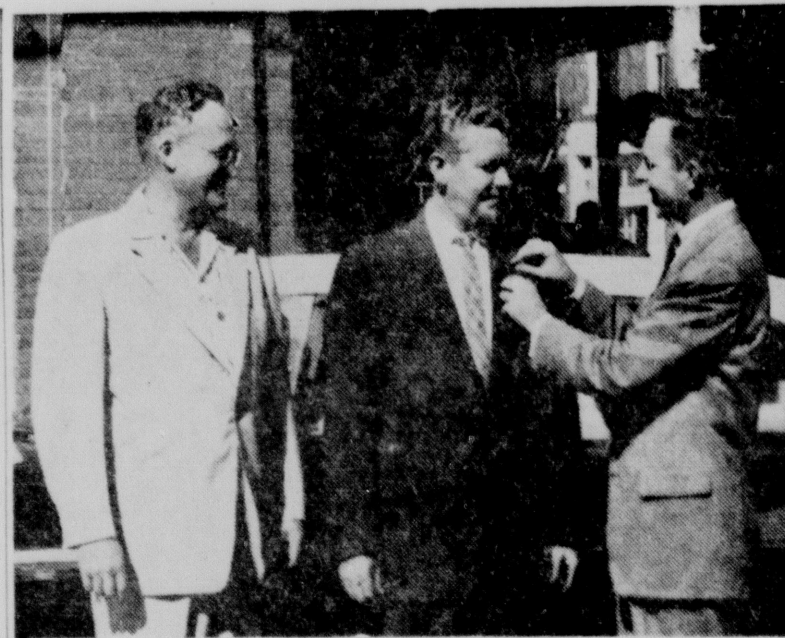

A second election will be held in Tipton to vote on added water lines, sewers, a lagoon lake and a new fire truck Tuesday, Oct. 30.

A similar election was held Sept. 4. Although the bonds for the improvements carried by large majorities it was discovered that the newspaper publication notices announcing the election were not published long enough, with the second election being held to be on the safe side.

Association Member

The Silverleaf Angus Farm at Sedalia has been elected to membership in the American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Association at St. Joseph, Missouri.

This farm was among 31 pure-bred Aberdeen-Angus breeding establishments in Missouri elected to membership during last month.

New Illustrated Decorating
Book Is Added to Boonslick

Books on home decoration, remodeling and refinishing or built-in furniture are always in demand at the Boonslick Regional Library. The very latest addition in this department is "Better Homes and Gardens Decorating Book." In arrangement and appearance it is similar to the "Better Homes and Gardens Cook Book, Garden Book and Handymans Book." It is beautifully illustrated in color and should present ideas for almost anyone with a decorating problem. Old and modern furniture or a mixture of the two is used. Large or small rooms, elegance, comfort, and beauty are stressed. This is a real addition to the other decorating books in the library.

"Kitchens" by Virginia Hart Wheeler has the sub-title "How to choose, plan, equip and decorate." Mrs. Wheeler says you should begin with the basic question: "How do you live?" She gives nine popular living patterns that affect the kitchen. She has a foolproof method for making your own first plan on paper. She describes all types of new equipment pointing out the advantages and disadvantages, relative costs, and installation problems.

Your library can provide material on most home decorating or remodeling problems. Use it and get your money's worth.

This week's bookmobile schedule is:

Tuesday, Oct. 9—Camp Branch.

Hold Pageant of Prayer--

Two Sedalians Attend 10th International Catholic Church Congress in New York

Miss Mary Helen Mayer, local scholar and writer, and Miss Leone Yost, a long time employee of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., have returned from five days of active participation in the 10th International Congress of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, held this year after a five-year interval at Buffalo, N.Y., Sept. 26 to 30. The Buffalo Evening News said this about the opening:

"Catholics met in Hotel Statler today to prepare themselves to meet this challenge: To spread Christian ideas among and by the laity, and thus provide the Church her most needed weapon in the battle for Christ in our day."

"The challenge was sounded to more than 2,000 laity and clergy from North, Central and South America Wednesday evening in the keynote address opening the National Congress of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine. It was delivered in Kleinhans Music Hall by the dynamic young prelate, the Most Rev. John J. Wright, bishop of Worcester, Mass."

"Spurred by the prelate's summons to do battle with ignorance and misinformation, congress delegates today opened four days of general sessions, lay training courses, work groups and classroom demonstrations."

The Congress ended with the Pageant of Prayer in the Civic Stadium. Cardinal Spellman of New York presided over this final mass demonstration and the assembly was addressed by a special representative sent to the Congress by Pope Pius XII.

This Congress was prepared for and was to have been presided over by the late Archbishop Edwin V. O'Hara, who had been chairman of the Episcopal committee of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine for the 22 years between 1934 and the day of his death in Milan, Italy, on Sept. 11, 1956. The Buffalo Evening News in reporting the opening event said:

"Both Bishop Burke (the host Bishop of Buffalo) and the Most Rev. Robert E. Lucey, bishop of San Antonio, who presided, paid tribute to the monumental contributions to the confraternity made by the late Most Rev. Edwin V. O'Hara, archbishop of Kansas City and chairman of the CCD Episcopal Committee, who died two weeks ago." A memorial Mass for the late Archbishop O'Hara was held Friday morning, Sept. 28, at an altar erected in the vast grand ballroom of the Hotel Statler. The estimated seating capacity of this improved chapel is over a thousand and all of those present participated in the memorial community Mass, saying the responses in unison. Archbishop O'Hara was referred to constantly at the Congress as having been the heroic and untiring organizer and director of the growth of the Confraternity in the United States and the whole Western Hemisphere.

Almost the entire Hotel Statler was turned over for the use of the Congress. Throughout the first four days 18 CCD work groups composed of lay or religious delegates held training or discussion sessions on the latest techniques in the various branches of Confraternity work, such as: The Apostolate of Good Will to Non-Catholics; the Apostolate of Radio and Television; techniques of teaching religion in parochial schools, vacation schools, and in public schools on released time; teaching religion to pre-school children in their own homes by their own parents with the aid of CCD visitors and literature, under the Parent-Educator program; Adult Discussion Club methods; techniques in specialized problems, such as teaching religion to the deaf, the blind, the mentally handicapped, and the migrant workers; the CCD program in colleges; the popularization of reading the Bible in the home, and the spiritual formation of all CCD workers.

Miss Mary Helen Mayer reports that she found the four daily sessions so interesting that she often wished she were four persons so that she would not have to make the difficult choice of picking the one most valuable to her. At each session on an average four noted authorities on some phase of Confraternity of Christian Doctrine work would deliver a talk or read a paper, usually about 12 minutes long. Then a discussion leader would take over and the audience could ask questions of any of the speakers or give their opinions and ask the speakers whether they agreed or disagreed.

Miss Mayer participated actively in the discussion period in eight of the sessions; in spite of the fact that since the new Diocese of Jefferson City was not then organized she had no official status as a Diocesan delegate. For example, at one session in the huge terrace room of the Statler at which the main speakers were Bishop Waters of Raleigh, N.C., speaking on "The Teaching Apostolate—Bishops and Priests Call the Laity to Their Aid" and Rev. Michael McLaughlin, CCD director, diocese of Kansas City-St. Joseph, speaking on "The Sanctification of the Faithful."

Miss Mayer suggested in the free discussion period that for modern times a new streamlined synthesis be attempted, correlating all Catholic doctrines and morals and practices such as the great philosopher and theologian St. Thomas Aquinas worked out in the 13th century. She told the assembly that ever since 1929 when her Master's thesis at Marquette University was published in book form by Bruce Publishing Co. as "The Philosophy of Teaching of St. Thomas Aquinas" she had been working on such a synthesis around the core of the Ten Commandments, the Apostles' Creed and the 15 meditations on the life of Christ in the Rosary, and she begged the prayers of those present for guidance of the Holy Spirit to success in her efforts.

At a training session for discussion club leaders, after the National Director of this phase of CCD work, Monsignor Gregory Smith of Denver, Colo., had defined a good discussion club leader as a "kindly lady with a large enough house, well enough heated and lighted that a group can meet, read and discuss there in comfort a chosen text," Miss Mayer told of the discussion groups meeting at her home, 240 South Vermont, and also suggested the adoption by the CCD of the Great Books method of having a graded series of discussion texts. At another session on the Apostolate of Good Will to Non-Catholics, Miss Mayer told of the booth at the 1956 Missouri State Fair, sponsored by the Sedalia Council of the Knights of Columbus to hand out literature on the K of C correspondence course to correct ignorance and misinformation about the Catholic Church.

At the 8 p.m. Friday session, the largest session of the whole Congress, the famous Father Leo Trese, author of the series of discussion texts used by the CCD study clubs, addressed a capacity audience in the grand ballroom of the Statler of a thousand lay delegates seated around 100 round tables in discussion club formation. Miss Mayer's suggestion for the improvement of discussion club technique was one of only five suggestions selected by the roving reporter, the noted author and columnist in the Sunday Visitor, Rev. James P. Conroy, to be relayed to all of those in the lobby who were viewing and hearing the session by closed circuit television and all those who later viewed the NBC television recording of this session. Father Trese himself voiced the opinion that Miss Mayer's suggestion was a good one. It had to do with the Diocese of Kansas City's supplemental aids to CCD discussion club leaders.

At still another session, the last one of the Congress Saturday evening, at which April Ousler Armstrong, the daughter of the famous Fulton Ousler, author of "The Greatest Story Ever Told" and other books, was one of four speakers on the topic "The Holy Bible in Daily Life," Miss Mayer asked if it would not be a good idea for Bible publishers to leave out of the cheaper editions of the Bible the family record pages, thus eliminating a temptation to keep the Bible from being used frequently for fear that the book which contained the family record of births, marriages and deaths might become dog eared because of every day use. Both Mrs. Armstrong and the presiding Bishop, Most Rev. Albert R. Zuroweste, Belleville, Ill., agreed it might be a good idea.

Saturday noon the two Sedalians, so far as known the only lay delegates from the area of the recently formed Diocese of Jefferson City, joined with about 40 lay delegates from the Kansas City area in sponsoring a luncheon in the Cafe Rouge at the Statler for the clergy delegates from this area. In charge of arrangements for the luncheon was Miss Helen Morgan of Kansas City, formerly of Sedalia, graduate of Smith-Cotton in the class of 1939, a niece of Miss Ora Stephens.

On the way to the Congress Misses Mayer and Yost stopped in St. Louis for an afternoon at the Mid-America Jubilee. On this particular day the afternoon program was presented by the elementary schools of the St. Louis area, both parochial and public. The sight of literally dozens of teachers in their diverse garbs distinctive of their orders and communities was a brief preview of the literally scores of representatives of different religious communities at the Congress in Buffalo, from all parts of the United States, Canada, Latin America, Alaska, Hawaiian Islands and even China.

Miss Yost, who had not previously been to Buffalo, enjoyed sight seeing tours with other delegates attending the Congress. She visited Father Baker's famous Homes of Charity and Our Lady of Victory Shrine. This magnificent Basilica, with its unique architecture, beautiful mural paintings and marble statuary provides a "white hyacinth for the soul" for the workers in the Bethlehem steel plant and the residents of smoky, grimy industrial Lackawanna, N.Y. Miss Yost also took a six hour conducted tour of Buffalo, Niagara Falls and parks in Canada. On this tour with Miss HOUSE BATTLE—Four hundred and thirty-two Congressional districts will elect representatives to Congress on Nov. 6. Of these, 92 are in so-called marginal districts (see Newsmap) that were won in 1954 by 55 per cent of the vote or less. It is in these districts, most of them outside the South, where the battle for House control will be fought. The Republicans have 61 doubtful seats to defend this year, almost twice as many as the Democrats, who have 31. The party that wins control of the House has won every presidential election except one (in 1916) since 1896. In 1952 with Eisenhower heading the ticket the GOP captured control of the House by seven seats, 222-215. Maine elected two Republicans and one Democrat this September.

Select Smith-Cotton Song Leaders, Pianists

By TONY WALCH
The final decision to determine pianist and song leader for both the Junior and Senior High assemblies at Smith-Cotton was announced Tuesday afternoon. A vote of all Smith-Cotton glee clubs was taken to determine the winners.

Janice White was selected for Senior High assembly pianist and Nan Ferguson will be song leader. For the Junior High assemblies, Kay Jacobi will hold down the pianist position and Shirley Deuel will lead the singing.

Competition was keen in both high school divisions and final decisions were difficult to make. Mrs. Geraldine Schrader, Smith-Cotton's music department head, and the music department seem happy with the recruits and look to them for a good showing throughout the year.

Yost was a group of college boys and girls from St. Benedict and St. Scholastica Colleges of Atchison, Kan., who had a part to play in the demonstrations by the college section of the Confraternity Congress.

On the return trip, at a brief stop over in Cleveland the two Sedalians saw the preparations on the public square in front of the Union Station being made for the noon-hour campaign speech to be delivered there the next day by President Eisenhower. They found the Missouri Pacific Eagles the best and most attractive and comfortably equipped coaches on the trip.

Montana Man Visits Buddy In Republic

By Mrs. Beatrice Burnfin

CROSS TIMBERS—Pat Twomey, Bridger, Mont., is visiting a Navy buddy, John Burnfin and wife, Republic, and old friends here, as he lived here before going to Montana. J. H. Berryman was taken to the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. W. Howard, Kansas City, but is still under the care of his physician.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Rose, Kansas City, and her sister of Sedalia and Sammy Joe Poterfield and friend, Kansas City, were at the Rose home over the weekend.

J. R. Aery was re-admitted to the hospital where he will undergo surgery.

Mrs. Beatrice Burnfin celebrated her birthday Oct. 2.

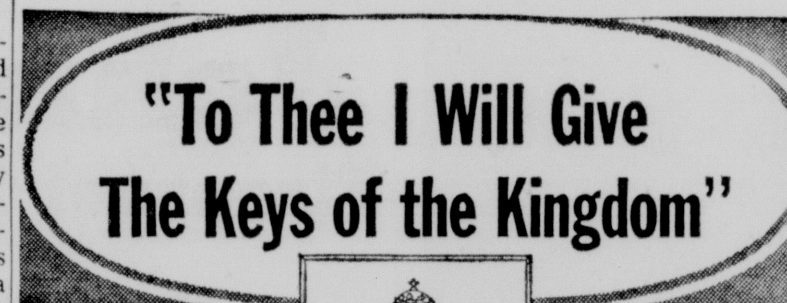

Mrs. Meda Burnfin spent a few days with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Marsh, Wheatland.

Lee Brown remains seriously ill at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted McPherson, Kansas City, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Iva O'Bryan and daughter east of Jordan over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Burnfin and children, Kansas City, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Burnfin over the weekend.

George Johnson didn't hate the Pope. Indeed, he held the head of the Catholic Church in high esteem as a leader in the spheres of morality, world peace and human rights.

But nobody could convince George Johnson that the Holy Father had any special authority to speak officially for Christ. Where in the Bible, George wanted to know, is there any mention of such a person as a Vicar of Christ? Where in Holy Scripture does Our Lord delegate any of His authority to a single human being?

It was not until he read, and read again, the words of Jesus to Peter (Matthew 16:18-19) that George Johnson began to understand the Catholic claim of papal authority. "And I say unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." "And I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven."

The Catholic claim concerning the authority of the Pope does not depend solely, of course, upon this or other significant passages of Holy Scripture. For the Vicarship of the Pontiffs had been universally recognized throughout Christendom long before the books of the Bible had been gathered together, and several centuries before the Church had officially selected the writings which were to be regarded as inspired.

But for the benefit of those who wish to weigh the Catholic claim in the light of the Bible, we respectfully suggest that they do as George Johnson did—read and read again Our Lord's words to Peter, "And I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven..." For is it not a clear delegation of His authority when Christ tells Peter: "... whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven..."? For a long time George Johnson had believed Our Lord's reference to "this rock" meant Peter's faith and not Peter's person. But now he saw in the Savior's words a specific command to exercise specific powers of judgment, which had to be an act of Peter the man.

A highly interesting and authoritative story of the origin of the papacy... the reasons why Catholics believe as they do concerning the Pope... a brief but exciting history of the Popes since the time of Peter, the first Pontiff—all these and many other interesting facts are contained in a pamphlet which we will gladly send to you free on request. We will mail it in a plain wrapper and nobody will call on you. Mail coupon today. Ask for Pamphlet No. MO-11.

Stuffed Bald Eagle Scares Away Pigeons

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"Old Baldy" is a bluff, but a very effective bluff. The pigeons at Memorial Hall stay away from him like poison. They don't care if he is only a stuffed American eagle. Stuffed or not, Old Baldy is not exactly friendly looking with his giant wings spread and a fierce glare in his steely eyes.

Attendants put Old Baldy on the front of the building when the pigeons were claiming it for their own. The bird had been in retirement for years, possibly since Civil War days. "He's doing a good job," said a janitor. "When the pigeons see him, they don't land. If they land before they see him, they take off like jets."

Dry Season Increases Constant Danger—

Fire Prevention Week Is Being Observed By Sedalians in Several Different Ways

Fire Prevention Week for 1956 is being observed Oct. 7-13. Its purpose is to direct public attention to the 11,000 lives and $885,218,000 in property destroyed by fire in 1955 and to the safety measures which can help reduce this needless waste in future years. President Eisenhower has issued a proclamation setting aside this one week of the year for national wide fire prevention effort. However, Sedalia's Fire Chief John Lueck said, "Every citizen should make all 52 weeks of the year fire prevention weeks and especially should we be careful in a dry season such as we find ourselves facing today. Fire Prevention Week is most timely this year in our area."

E. L. McClung, chairman of the fire prevention committee of the Chamber of Commerce, has announced that over 9,000 pieces of literature are being distributed throughout our parochial and public schools from the first to the 12th grades.

Also, to create interest, an essay contest in the sixth and seventh grades of each school on the subject of a fire-safe home is being held next week. The winning essay writer in each grade of each of the schools will be awarded a ball point pen from several Sedalia firms.

The City Fire Department will hold industrial and business firm fire safety checks throughout the city next week.

Scout Troop 65, under Scoutmaster O'Dell Hilburn's direction, distributed posters throughout the business district announcing Fire Prevention Week.

P. A. Sillers, director of elementary schools, said Saturday morning that the annual inspection of a fire drill at Smith-Cotton High School by the city's fire department will be repeated, complete with the arrival of fire apparatus. Art work related to fire prevention will be conducted in the lower grades. Fire safety check lists will be given to the pupils to take home.

The observance of Fire Safety Week comes only a little more than a week after an emergency order by Fire Chief Lueck against the burning of dry grass and weeds on property within the city limits. His order resulted from a close call during a spreading grass fire on Main Street which for a time threatened the Furnell Lumber Yard.

Whiteman Has Enviably Fire Safety Record

In observing Fire Prevention Week Oct. 7-13 the Whiteman can look with pride to an enviable record maintained throughout the past year.

During the past fiscal year there were no losses due to fire on this entire installation; the only such record of the year in Eighth Air Force. This accomplishment by base fire prevention men is truly outstanding when one looks at the awesome fire loss throughout the Air Force.

In the Air Force during 1955 there was a reported average of 112 fires per month. The following year this total was increased to 170 per month.

The dollar loss in the continental United States Air Force bases during the first half of 1956 was 31 per cent higher than the loss in the same area for the entire preceding year.

Certainly good fortune may be given some credit for the perfect fire prevention program on this installation but even more must be attributed to the never-ending vigilance of our base fire prevention officials and the fire safety attitude of Whiteman personnel.

Fire prevention teams are maintained by Whiteman, led by Mike Firsick, fire prevention supervisor, whose job it is to make periodic checks of every area on the base theater and nursery to insure the elimination of fire hazards.

Monthly inspections are made of dormitories, administrative buildings, and other plant facilities to check the condition of fire fighting equipment and to determine whether there are any threats to the buildings' safety.

In addition, a weekly inspection is made by these prevention teams of "hot spots"; such as hangars and other more vulnerable areas on the base. Regularly appointed fire guards are also stationed at the base theater and nursery when these facilities are in operation.

All of these preventative measures are consistent with the belief that the fireman's primary job is not fighting conflagrations, but preventing them.

A comparison can readily be made between the work done by the base firemen and the very command for which they work. Like the Strategic Air Command's air crews and other personnel, the firemen at Whiteman train constantly to achieve perfection in their assignment and maintain a tremendously expensive variety of equipment to use in case a fire should occur.

Equipment maintained by Whiteman for fire prevention included three 0-11A type crash trucks; two 0-10's; three 750 gallon pump trucks; one 0-6 crash truck and one R-2 rescue truck. The cost of these vehicles exceeds $220,000.

In addition to this equipment, five civilians and 78 airmen are trained, partially trained or are undergoing extensive training to operate this apparatus. The cost of training one man to a skilled level is approximately $7,500. Five men are required to attain efficient operation on all the above mentioned equipment.

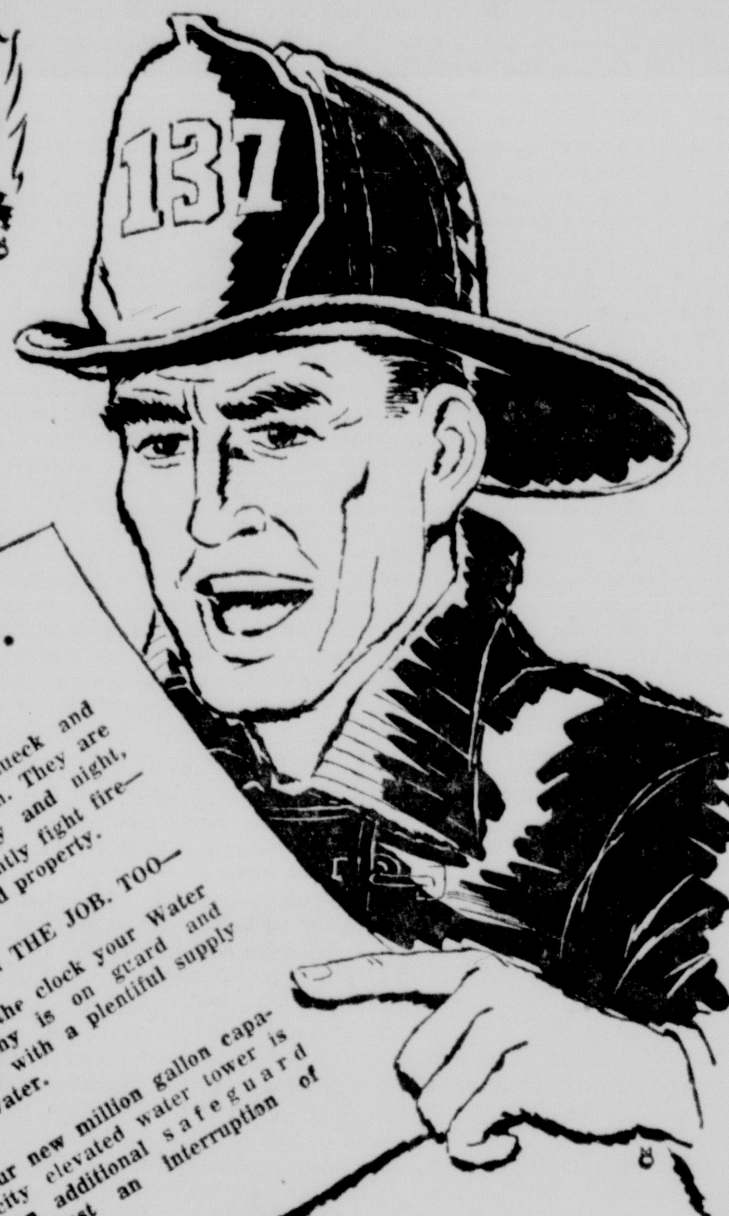

A constructive training program is carried on during duty hours for all fire department personnel. During these training sessions the firemen obtain a working knowledge of local areas, roads, buildings, construction, water systems, equipment involved, amount of water in surrounding localities such as ditches, ponds, streams, etc.

The duties of base firemen in performing their duty require unrelenting effort on their part.

Working in shifts; base firemen work an average of 12 hours per day, each and every day. After reporting for duty at 8 a.m., the fire fighter can look forward to a long working day to say the least.

Miss Judith Ann Momborg Weds Duane Wicker in Early Afternoon

Miss Judith Ann Momborg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Momborg, 720 East 14th, and Duane Wicker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Wicker, Carthage, Ind., were united in marriage at 2:30 the afternoon of September 20 in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. T. W. Croxton at the First Baptist Church before a background of jade foliage and standards of yellow and white gladioli, chrysanthemums and pompons, with 14 white tapers tied with white satin.

Miss Marilyn Kelley played "Liebestraume," "At Dawning," and "All the Things You Are," on the organ. Miss Judy Case sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer," at the close of the ceremony.

Miss Jeanette Keseman and Miss Georgetta Nevils, wearing ballerina length dresses of blue crystallette fashioned with fitted bodices, scalloped necklines and flared skirts, lighted the tapers. They also wore matching hats and mitts and corsages of yellow chrysanthemums affixed to the candles, showered with white satin.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white ballerina length dress of Chantilly lace and nylon net over bridal satin. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a high neckline and long fitted sleeves, tapering to points over the hands. A large bow of satin was at the back waist over a panel of ruffled nylon net. She wore a double veil of nylon tulle attached to a head piece of seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white chrysanthemums centered with a white orchid and showered with white satin.

Miss Carol Means was maid of honor and wore a ballerina length dress of Ceil blue chromspun acetate and net over taffeta styled with a fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore a matching head piece, and carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and white pompons tied with yellow satin.

Preston Rice, LaMonte, served as best man. Ushers were Larry Mines and Larry Owen.

The mother of the bride wore a light brown dress with matching accessories. The mother of the bridegroom wore a blue dress with black accessories. Both had corsages of white Spider Fuji mums.

A reception was held in the church dining room for 100 guests after the ceremony. The table was covered with a lace tablecloth over yellow and centered with a four tiered wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom and decorated with yellow roses. The cake was wreathed with green fern and small yellow mums with tapers on each side. Miss Jeanette Keseman, Miss Georgetta Nevils, Miss Ruby Nevils, and Miss Betty Callaway, served at the bride's table assisted by Mrs. Terry Pile and Mrs. John Sagar. Miss Ruby Nevils was in charge of the guest book.

The couple left for a wedding trip to southern Missouri. For traveling, the bride chose a brown sheath dress and jacket with black velvet hat and black accessories. A white orchid graced her shoulder.

The couple is now living near Greenfield, Ind.

The bride is a graduate of Smith-Cotton High School, class of 1956, and was employed by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Charlottesville High School, Indiana, class of 1950, and served four years in the Air Force. He will attend Purdue University.

Out of town guests included the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Omer Wicker, Carthage, Ind.; his sisters, Mrs. Gary Gustin, Greenfield, Ind., Miss Pauline Wicker, Carthage, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. William Schaper, Versailles, and Miss Deanne Greene, Emporia, Kan.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall J. Blaue, 1434 South Sneed, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Delta Mae, to Richard C. Emery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Emery, 714 Wilkerson. The wedding will take place Friday, October 26, at the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church. (Lehmer Photo)

Judy Momborg Is Honored Guest Of Bridal Party

Misses Carol Means, Jeanette Keseman, Ruby Nevils and Betty Callaway were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower Sept. 23 at the home of Miss Means, 1206 South Marvin, in honor of Miss Judy Momborg who became the bride of Duane Wicker Sept. 20.

The gifts were placed under a green and white umbrella from which balloons were attached, containing the number of the gift to be opened, with the honoree breaking each balloon.

Games were played with prizes going to the honoree. Refreshments were served to Judy Momborg, Mrs. R. L. Momborg, Miss Mary Ethridge, Mrs. G. L. Ethridge, Mrs. Tommy Gardner, Mrs. Dick Rodick, Mrs. Ruth Moon, Misses Judy Ragland, Nan Sutton, Virginia Buso, Betty Schlobohm, Arleen Hanning, Karen Crosslin, Elnor Hillman, Delta Blaue, Sandra Maune, Nancy Pace and Georgetta Nevils. Others, unable to attend, sent gifts.

Music Club Has First Luncheon Of New Season

The Helen G. Steele Music Club will open its 1956-57 season with a club luncheon honoring new members at the Heard Memorial Club House on Wednesday at 12 o'clock noon.

Miss Charlene Cooper Exchanges Vows With Robert J. Mazouch

Miss Charlene Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chevalier Cooper, 1723 South Prospect, became the bride of Robert J. Mazouch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mazouch, Rivera, Calif. Saturday, September 22, at the Broadway Presbyterian Church, at 2:00 p.m. with the Rev. Warren Neal officiating at the double ring ceremony, in front of the altar set with potted green palms.

Mrs. C. C. DeLozier, organist, played traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of white lace over white net and taffeta, fashioned with a scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her shoulder veil of illusion was secured by a coronet of lace, seed pearls and rhinestones. Pearl earrings were her only jewelry. She carried a white orchid with yellow throat on a white satin covered Bible with long white satin streamers.

Mrs. William Crawford, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her dress was brocade beige silk with white accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of white carnations and pink rose buds.

William Crawford served as best man.

The mother of the bride wore a black silk crepe dress, and a corsage of white carnations.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was covered with a lace tablecloth with a three-tier wedding cake, with a miniature bride and groom on top, centering the table. Crystal candle holders were on each side with four white candles.

Mrs. Lewis Smith and Mrs. Warren Sizemore, sisters of the bride, attended the bride's table. Out-of-town guests were, Mr. and Mrs. Julius R. Cooper, grandparents of the bride, and Mrs. Gregory Ross and son Ronnie, Versailles, Mrs. Lewis Smith and Mrs. Bill Cooper, Warsaw.

The bride was graduated from Smith-Cotton High School, class of 1955, and is a member of the "S" Club and a life member in the Sedalia Chapter of Job's Daughters. She is now employed at Hallmark's Cards, in Kansas City.

The bridegroom was graduated from U.C.L.A. College, Los Angeles, Calif., class of 1952. He is now employed as meteorologist with T.W.A. at Municipal Air Port, Kansas City.

The couple left immediately

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vancel, Stover, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Ruth, to Lee Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Williams, Stover.

Miss Ruth Vancel Is Honored Guest At Bridal Shower

A bridal shower was given at the Stover Club House Sept. 23 in honor of Miss Ruth Vancel. A blue and white color scheme was carried out in the decorations and the traditional umbrella was placed over the gift table.

Games were played with prizes going to Mrs. Grover Williams, Mrs. Forrest Rowland and Linda Marriott. The bride then opened her nice gifts.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. Jerry Vancel and daughter and Mrs. Jim Wilcox, Sedalia; Mrs. Clayton Vancel and son, Kansas City; Mrs. V. C. Wallace, Windsor; Mrs. W. D. Wathall, Cole Camp; Mrs. Forrest Rowland, Mrs. Clifford Marriott, Mrs. J. E. FORMALS are always beautiful to look at and fascinating to wear, but wearing them with ease is another story. First of all, you should be sure the style and fabric doesn't over-power you. They are as a rule so exquisite and you feel since you don't wear one often you will go all out and get something really outstanding. Therefore, select one that brings out your best qualities just as you do with street clothes. Get a color that does the most for you under lights. You need a different make-up too, than you usually wear. Your eyes particularly need extra make-up. Your jewelry should be selected with great care and don't wear too much. Your cologne or perfume should be just right for you as well as the occasion. Have the proper shoes and purse as well as wrap. Be sure your formal fits properly, in fact have a dress rehearsal before the occasion and make sure everything is just right so there won't be any last minute changes. Then when you make your entrance, you will do so with confidence and you won't have a worried look all evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Purchase

Mr. and Mrs. George Purchase Celebrate Golden Anniversary

The sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Purchase are holding open house Oct. 6 at the Buena Grange Hall in Zillah, Wash., from two to five p.m. in honor of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Purchase.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Purchase spent their childhood days near Green Ridge and were married near there Oct. 10, 1906. They made their home on a farm there until 1937 when they moved to Washington state where he is now employed in a food freezing plant operated by Stokely-Van Camp.

They have 11 children, 25 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren who plan to be with them, including one daughter, Mrs. O. W. Chappell, Route 4, Sedalia. Mr. Purchase is a brother of John and C. M. Purchase of Green Ridge.

Mona DeWeese, Dale Stephenson Exchange Vows

Miss Mona Marie DeWeese, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William DeWeese, Scott City, Kan., and Dale Blake Stephenson, son of L. E. Stephenson, Pomona, Calif., and the late Mrs. Marie Stephenson, Knob Noster, were united in marriage at the First Christian Church in Scott City with the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Roy E. Adams, pastor of the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of pure silk French illusion and frosted embroidered tulle. The bouffant skirt was accented at the waist with a peplum of embroidered tulle, forming alternating tiers of embroidery and tulle down the back of the skirt. The fitted embroidery bodice was accented with a mandarin collar, short sleeves and matching mitts. Her fingertip circular veil of pure silk illusion was held by a fitted cap of hand smocked illusion, and was caught with a double pearl and outlined with flower beading. She carried a cascade bouquet of white cymbidium orchids and ivy.

Miss Karen DeWeese, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a gown of pervanche blue crystalite. Misses Joanne Rodenbeck, Virgie Storm and Lois Greaff, were bridesmaids and wore gowns and accessories identical to the maid of honor in gold, emerald and coral.

Miss Toni DeWeese, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid, wearing a copper crystalite gown.

Richard Ohmart served as best man, with Robert Oliver, Mike Urban, Jr., and Larry Turpin, the groomsmen and Gary Turpin, the junior groomsmen. Chester Turpin, S. P. Woodward and James Rodenbeck ushered.

A reception was held in the church hall. The long bride's table was covered with an ecru lace cloth over a dark green background, and was centered with a six tiered cake topped with silver wedding bells and decorated with calla lilies and encircled with smilax and bronze pompons.

Both bride and the bridegroom are graduates of Scott Community High. The bride attended Kansas University. The bridegroom is stationed in San Diego, Calif., with the U. S. Navy and the couple will make their home there, after a week's wedding trip in Colorado.

The bridegroom made his home with an Aunt, Mrs. Paul Kitterman and Mr. Kitterman in Scott City for eight years, since the death of his mother. He is a nephew of Mrs. Otto Baldwin, Knob Noster, and Mrs. Henry Blaine and Mrs. Ruby Lewis, Sedalia.

Are you constantly wearing out your stockings at the heel? Then rubbing paraffin on the top insides of your shoes may help.

Shirley Duffer, Billie Siegfried Exchange Vows

Miss Shirley Ann Duffer, Knob Noster, daughter of T. H. Duffer and the late Mrs. Duffer, Topeka, Kan., and Billie Lee Siegfried, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Siegfried, Warrensburg, exchanged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony at the Presbyterian Church in Knob Noster with the Rev. Robert Stevenson, pastor of the Warrensburg Presbyterian Church, officiating at two o'clock, September 23. Large white baskets of summer Indian grasses and straw flowers in autumn colors and potted plants of gold chrysanthemums decorated the church with two candelabra with seven white tapers.

Miss Mary Hogan, Knob Noster, played a selection of wedding music and the traditional wedding marches on the piano. The Rev. Harry Higgins, pastor of the Knob Noster Baptist Church, sang "Walk Hand in Hand," "Always," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Rudolph and Randy Breashears, cousins of the bride, small sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Breashears, LaMonte, lighted the candles. The bride wore a ballerina-length gown of white antique silk with Chantilly lace bolero styled with three-quarter length sleeves. The round neckline was fashioned with Mandarin collar, trimmed with sequins and seed pearls. Her shoulder length veil of bridal illusion fell from a Juliet cap of white lace trimmed with sequins and seed pearls. She carried a Bible topped with feathered white carnations.

Miss Regina Henderson was the maid of honor and wore a full length gown of yellow handkerchief net over yellow acetate silk. She carried a colonial bouquet of straw flowers. Miss Dorothy Lynde, Knob Noster, and Miss Carolyn Siegfried, Warrensburg, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaids wore fall green gowns styled like the maid of honor, with headbands of straw flowers and colonial bouquets of straw flowers.

Fred McKeenhan, Knob Noster, served as best man. Groomsmen were Charles Miller, Knob Noster, cousin of the bridegroom, and Bill Jack Clemons, U. S. Navy, LaMonte, cousin of the bride. Ushers were Edwin Breashears, LaMonte, cousin of the bride, and Charles Miller.

Little Miss Judy Wharton, Knob Noster, cousin of the bridegroom, was flowergirl and wore a white nylon net ballerina length gown trimmed with gold glitter. She carried a basket of straw flowers and autumn leaves.

The bride's cousin, Mrs. Russell Janney, Knob Noster, wore a navy dress with navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The mother of the bridegroom wore olive green dress with beige accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the church for 98 guests. A four tiered white wedding cake, trimmed with yellow roses and green leaves, topped with white wedding bells and hearts and miniature bride and groom, centered the table on a large mirror, encircled with gold straw flowers and greenery. On each side of the cake were white tapers in crystal holders. Mrs. Dee Tebbenkamp, Knob Noster, and Mrs. Edwin Breashears, LaMonte, served at the bride's table. Miss Lois Siegfried, sister of the bridegroom, Warrensburg, was in charge of the guest book while Mrs. John McKeenhan, Knob Noster, was in charge of the gifts.

The couple left after the reception for a wedding trip to the Lake of the Ozarks. For traveling, the bride chose a cocoa brown and beige dress with beige accessories.

The couple is now living in a trailer on his parent's farm north-east of Warrensburg.

The bride is a graduate of Knob Noster High School, class of 1956, and is a bookkeeper at the Bank of Knob Noster.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Knob Noster High School, class of 1954, and is employed at Town and Country Shoe Factory in Warrensburg.

Miss Mary Hogan, Knob Noster, played a selection of wedding music and the traditional wedding marches on the piano. The Rev. Harry Higgins, pastor of the Knob Noster Baptist Church, sang "Walk Hand in Hand," "Always," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Rudolph and Randy Breashears, cousins of the bride, small sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Breashears, LaMonte, lighted the candles. The bride wore a ballerina-length gown of white antique silk with Chantilly lace bolero styled with three-quarter length sleeves. The round neckline was fashioned with Mandarin collar, trimmed with sequins and seed pearls. Her shoulder length veil of bridal illusion fell from a Juliet cap of white lace trimmed with sequins and seed pearls. She carried a Bible topped with feathered white carnations.

Miss Regina Henderson was the maid of honor and wore a full length gown of yellow handkerchief net over yellow acetate silk. She carried a colonial bouquet of straw flowers. Miss Dorothy Lynde, Knob Noster, and Miss Carolyn Siegfried, Warrensburg, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaids wore fall green gowns styled like the maid of honor, with headbands of straw flowers and colonial bouquets of straw flowers.

Fred McKeenhan, Knob Noster, served as best man. Groomsmen were Charles Miller, Knob Noster, cousin of the bridegroom, and Bill Jack Clemons, U. S. Navy, LaMonte, cousin of the bride. Ushers were Edwin Breashears, LaMonte, cousin of the bride, and Charles Miller.

Little Miss Judy Wharton, Knob Noster, cousin of the bridegroom, was flowergirl and wore a white nylon net ballerina length gown trimmed with gold glitter. She carried a basket of straw flowers and autumn leaves.

The bride's cousin, Mrs. Russell Janney, Knob Noster, wore a navy dress with navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The mother of the bridegroom wore olive green dress with beige accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the church for 98 guests. A four tiered white wedding cake, trimmed with yellow roses and green leaves, topped

Birdsong Sisters Pledge Vows In Double Wedding

A double wedding was performed by the Rev. R. E. Hurd Saturday, September 15, at two o'clock in the afternoon at the Epworth Methodist parsonage when two sisters, daughters of Mrs. Nora Birdsong, 1810 South Harrison, and the late Alfred Birdsong, pledged wedding vows.

Miss Mary Arlene Birdsong became the bride of Robert Eugene Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jackson, 315 North Engineer, and Miss Frieda Lee Birdsong became the bride of Donald Eugene McNeal, son of Mrs. Pete McNeal and the late Charles McNeal, 511 South Engineer. The brides wore identical box suits of blue with white accessories and white carnation and stephanotis corsages.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson are at home at their apartment, 720 South Massachusetts.

Mr. and Mrs. McNeal left after the ceremony for a short wedding trip to the Ozarks and are at home in their apartment, 1411 West Main.

Both brides are employed at J. A. Lamy Manufacturing Co., and both of the bridegrooms are employed at the Missouri Pacific Shops.

Celebrate Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Reith and son, Concordia, entertained dinner guests Sunday in honor of their wedding anniversary. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Starkebaum and family, Mayview; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bredehoeft and family, Blackburn; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hemme and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Hemme, Concordia.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Burgess, Warrensburg, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to Stanley N. Small, son of Mrs. Herschel L. Small, and the late Mr. Small of Stover. The wedding will take place November 21 at the Methodist Church, Warrensburg.

Veteran Pilot Tells Why Suez Canal May Close Down

"NO SUBSTITUTE FOR EXPERIENCE:" Capt. Alexander Duncan tells Suez story to NEA correspondent Tom A. Cullen.

By TOM A. CULLEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON—(NEA)—Egypt is faced with a complete shut-down of the Suez Canal if she depends upon Russian pilots to keep the canal open for her. That's the considered opinion of Capt. Alexander Duncan, a gray-eyed Scot with 12 years' service as a Suez pilot behind him.

Neither Russian pilots nor any other pilots lacking in experience of the Suez Canal will be able to take ships through the "Big Ditch" without courting disaster," the captain says.

Capt. Duncan sat up in a sickbed, where he is recovering from an emergency operation, to explain to me why greenhands are no substitute for experienced pilots.

The Suez Canal, says the pilot from Dundee, Scotland, who ran away to sea at the age of 16, is like a one-track railway along which traffic must be kept moving at fixed speeds in order to arrive at turn-offs in time to let oncoming traffic pass.

It is the pilot's job to keep the ships moving on a strict time schedule so that convoys can meet and pass, and in order to do this the pilot must have complete knowledge of the canal's operation.

There are over 40 different signals the pilot must interpret, and they are posted every five miles along the 100-mile canal. They act as the pilot's eyes and ears, telling him which ships are coming from the opposite directions and what weather conditions—fogs, sandstorms—prevail.

Radio messages that pass constantly from ship to shore are given in French and are part of an elaborate radio code worked out by the Suez Company over a period of years.

Again, a Suez pilot must have at least a nodding acquaintance with hundreds of markers and buoys and know their kilometer position from the Port Said light-house, for this is how they are designated.

Now that they have been released from their jobs, few Suez Canal pilots will want to return to Egypt without guarantees for their personal safety and for that of their families, according to Capt. Duncan.

"We had been living under a cloud of fear," he said. "At any moment our visas could be taken from us, or re-entry permits be refused. Our mail opened, our telephones were tapped."

The captain himself, left behind in a penthouse flat in Port Fouad,

Wife's Gesture Costly

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—A gesture of affection proved costly last night for a Chattanooga couple, putting both man and wife in the hospital and leaving their automobile a wreck.

Bruce W. Brown, 38, a painter, and his wife, Mrs. Marie Brown, 40, were driving to the home of her relatives when she threw out her arm, intending to put it around her husband's shoulder.

Instead, she struck the steering wheel, the husband said, causing him to lose control of the car, which crashed into a bridge abutment and was demolished. Mrs. Brown was thrown through the windshield.

plus personal belongings accumulated during 12 years' duty, when he was evacuated to London on Sept. 5 for emergency hospital treatment. His Danish-born wife, Harriet, got out of Egypt on Aug. 18.

But it took the reports of five doctors certifying that the captain was dangerously ill to get action from the Egyptian government, which delayed his exit visa for 27 days. During those 27 days he was in constant danger of developing coronary thrombosis.

The captain is suffering from phlebitis, an inflammation of the leg veins common to pilots, who often spend as many as 16 hours a day on their feet while on duty. It will be some time before he regains full use of his legs again.

Can Egypt train enough pilots to operate the canal in the near future? The captain feels that there is no substitute for long sea-going experience in the training of canal pilots, and that this is where Egyptian pilots are deficient.

"Most of the Egyptian naval cadets being trained as pilots today have never seen service on anything bigger than a frigate or a corvette," he says.

On the other hand, the Suez Company's apprenticeship system was a rigid one. Promotion was gradual, insuring that a man knew his job before he reached the top of the ladder as a major first class pilot, qualified to handle any tonnage and any type of ship.

Suez pilots were paid a basic wage, plus a bonus for every ship they took through the canal. During busy months they might average $750 a month, while $1,500 a month would be the maximum for a first class pilot.

State President Speaks--

Federated Garden Clubs Hold District Meeting at Wesley Church Wednesday

The Federated Garden Clubs of Missouri, West Central District, held a one-day convention Wednesday, Oct. 3, at the Wesley Methodist Church, with Mrs. Herbert Seifert, Sedalia district director, presiding. There were 265 Garden Club members attending the meeting from Adrain, Amsterdam, Butler, Clinton, Parkville, Foster, Green Ridge, Holden, Hume, Kansas City, Knob Noster, LaMonte, MaMa Bend, Osceola, Ottumwa, Marshall, Appleton City, Sedalia, Smithton, Warsaw, Stover, Strausburg, Clinton, Warrensburg, Waverly, Wellington and Windsor.

The principal address of the day was made by the president of the Missouri Federation of Garden Clubs, Mrs. Henry I. Eager, Jefferson City.

No place in the world, said Mrs. Eager, has organized garden clubs like America. Garden clubs are as typically American, she said, as apple pie. There are 361 clubs in Missouri with a total of 9,234 members.

Missouri, Mrs. Eager said, has been selected as the national home for the Garden Clubs and it has been announced that legally now the six and two-tenths acres of Shaw's Garden in St. Louis may be given for the home of the National Federation of Garden Clubs.

Any organization concerned with service is going to grow, said Mrs. Eager, and as the Garden Clubs continue to serve they will continue to build.

Mrs. Eager told of the many things the Garden Clubs over the state are doing. Missouri has 11 roadside parks and there will soon be three more; it is doing a wonderful work in therapy; it is very active in the Litterbug Campaign—in fact, coined the name the nation now uses; it gives scholarships, works on conservation, beautifies cities and roads, has a planned bird program, and does many other things. Garden Clubs, Mrs. Eager said, have a story to tell.

The Council of Sedalia Garden Clubs of which Mrs. Roy Gerster is president, was hostess to the district meeting which opened at 10 a.m. Mrs. Paul Read, second vice-president of the Sedalia Council, gave the national collect and invocation was given by the Rev. Lee F. Soxman.

The welcome was given by Mrs. Roy Gerster and the response by Mrs. Richard Steitz, president of the Raytown Garden Club.

Mrs. H. C. Johnson led the singing of the national federation song, "Where a Garden Grows," with Mrs. Paul Berthouex as accompanist.

Roll call was by Mrs. Clarence Nieweg of Napoleon, member of the Wellington Garden Club.

Reports were given by the treasurer, Mrs. Guy McAmis, and auditor, Mrs. W. L. Coonrod, as well as the various officers and committees. Reports were also given by presidents of the clubs over the state. Each president told what the projects of the club were and their accomplishments of the past year. One club had made a list of all the shut-ins and old people they felt needed to be remembered in their town, visit them, take them things and see especially they are remembered on their birthdays.

Luncheon was served by the women of the church with Mrs. Wilford Acker, assistant director, presiding. Invocation was by Mrs. Lee Soxman.

Mrs. A. H. Bratten, music and program chairman, then presented Russell Maag, who sang "On the Road to Mandalay" and "One Alone," accompanied by Mrs. Del Heckart.

Mrs. Seifert presided over the afternoon session, which opened with a memorial by Mrs. Leland Hoback, with soloist Mrs. A. H. Bratten and Mrs. Paul Berthouex as accompanist. Mrs. Bratten sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. C. L. Carter talked on the awards and told how the yearbooks were classified, exchanged with another district for judging, and explained exactly what should be included and how a yearbook should be constructed. She also told of judging scrapbooks and what should be included in scrapbooks.

Mrs. T. R. Fagan talked on Garden Therapy and told of the wonderful work being done by Kansas City clubs. They selected six projects, the heart, blind, mental cases, aged and two veterans hospitals. Then they had to learn what was needed and what to do. The thing to remember, she stressed, is that these people want to feel they are important as individuals.

Mrs. Lucille Kirshman, Kansas City, state bird chairman, talked on the bird program.

Mrs. O. M. Clouser, Marshall, a former Sedalian, talked on the importance of flower shows.

Mrs. William S. Gordon gave a very interesting talk on arrangements, using several from the flower show to illustrate her points of praise and criticism.

Mrs. Paul J. Smith, Kansas City, also a former Sedalian, talked on horticulture.

Mrs. A. A. Ferguson gave the revisions to the by-laws, and Mrs. L. H. Hodges gave the resolutions which had been prepared by Mrs. Oscar DeWolf.

James S. Jackson, editor of the garden page of the Kansas City Star, was introduced and made a short talk.

The nominating committee appointed to select the officers for election next year is composed of Mrs. Charles W. Dixon, Warrensburg, Mrs. H. M. Anderson, Kansas City, and Mrs. C. W. Atkins, Clinton.

The next convention will be held in Wellington.

The present district officers are: Mrs. Herbert Seifert, Sedalia, director; Mrs. Wilford Acker, Sedalia, assistant director; Mrs. Richard Steitz, Independence, second assistant director; Mrs. Law-

To Use Helicopter, Harvester to Pick Pecans From Trees

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—A helicopter and a harvester will be used in a tree-shaking, pecan-picking experiment.

The helicopter will blow the nuts from the trees, then the harvester will move along the ground and suck up the pecans.

That's the idea. Whether it will work will be determined Wednesday.

Lewis Scott, a Savannah crop duster, will pilot the whirlybird. Arthur O. Sandison of Albany, manager of a pecan processing company, will supervise ground operations at an orchard south of Albany.

If the two machines do what they're supposed to do, the experiment may bring about a considerable reduction in pecan harvesting time.

rence Stalling, Wellington; Mrs. J. B. Mayfield, Ottumwa, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Louis Poppinga, Malta Bend, historian; Mrs. A. A. Ferguson, Sedalia, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Oscar DeWolf, Sedalia, resolutions.

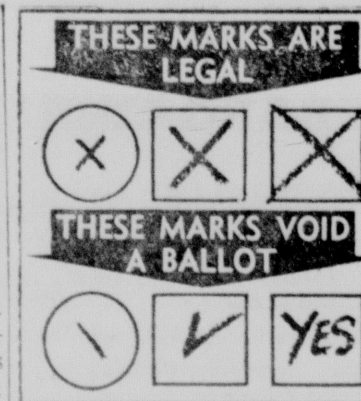

Convention chairmen were: Mrs. P. L. Strole, registration; Mrs. Ida Harriman, favors and decorations; Mrs. A. H. Bratten, program and music; Mrs. John Ryan, pages; and Mrs. Wilford Acker and Mrs. O. M. Clouser, flower show.

Dairy Association Meets in Versailles

The fourth annual district membership meeting of the Fifth District of the American Dairy Association of Missouri will be held at the city hall in Versailles Nov. 20 at 10:30 p.m. Representatives from Audrain, Boone, Callaway, Cole, Cooper, Howard, Maries, Miller, Moniteau, Morgan, Osage, Phelps, Pulaski and Randolph counties will be present for the election of directors.

Teen-Age Husband Puts Knife in Chest To Be With Wife

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—A teen-age husband, father of a new-born baby, was so eager to be in the same hospital with his wife that he drove a knife into his chest, police said, to make sure of getting there.

For all his pains, however, 19-year-old Harry Thompson, is still separated from his wife. He is a patient in the men's ward; she remains in the maternity section. The child, born prematurely and weighing three pounds, has been placed in an oxygen tent.

As related by authorities, Thompson, a box factory employe, tottered into police headquarters Wednesday night, the three-inch knife blade still in his chest.

Hospital attendants said Thompson stayed with his wife as long as he could on Wednesday, and appeared miserable when forced to leave.

Police said no charge had been lodged against Thompson.
